AVIATORS HEAD FOR CLEVELAND AND AIR RACES

Cross Country Bendix Flight from Los Angeles To Start at Midnight.

ARMY PLANES TO STUNT

Taylor Trophy Derby Starts at Columbus; Limited to Low-Powered Motors.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2—Motors whirred from coast to coast today as fliers converged on Cleveland for aviation's big show, the national air races.

Preliminaries opened today in advance of the first events here Friday, with interest centering in the cross-country Bendix derby from Los Angeles to Cleveland starting after midnight tonight.

A fleet of 60 military planes assembled for formation and stunt flying. Racing pilots made last minute tests of planes expected to break speed records. Parachute jumpers and stunt pilots rehearsed their neck-risking acts.

Score Leave Columbus

Approximately 30 planes entered the Taylor trophy derby taking off from Columbus today for Akron and Cleveland as the preliminary event.

The program proper, opening Friday, runs through Labor day to reach its climax in the Thompson trophy race, 200-mile speed event.

A corps of 30 parachute jumpers will put on a mass jump daily. European and American stunt champions will strive to outdo each other in spectacular flying.

Poised on the starting line at Los Angeles today for the Bendix dash to Cleveland and possibly continuing on to New York for transcontinental records were a dozen of the finest speed planes and pilots.

First On Line

Among the first on the line were Earl Ortman of Los Angeles; Jaqueline Cochran of New York; E. C. (Sonny) Sundorph of Cleveland; Milo Burcham of Los Angeles; Frank Fuller of San Francisco; Frank Sinclair of Farmington, L. I.; Joseph Mackey of Findlay, O.; R. E. Perlick of Glendale, Calif.

Prizes included a $20,000 purse for best times to Cleveland, $2,500 for setting a new transcontinental record, $3,000 for continuing to Bendix airport in New York, $2,500 for woman making best time to Cleveland.

Trouble at Albuquerque, N. M., forced Col. Roscoe Turner to give up starting in the Bendix race.

Columbus to Akron Flight Via Bucyrus

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2—A field of 17 pilots took to the air today in a "flivver derby" race, part of the national air races at Cleveland.

Given their course, from Columbus to Akron via Bucyrus, O., the fliers mostly amateurs and including two women, hastily calculated the flying time required for the trip and then jumped into their ships on the starting line.

The flier reaching Akron in the time closest to the estimate will win the C. G. Taylor trophy, and cash prizes totalling about $575. Air race officials sealed tape over watches and clocks carried by the contestants, and a crew of checkers

WIFE, 56, DIVORCED FROM HUSBAND, 24

Mrs. Robert H. Saiter Granted Decree on Non-Support Charge; Wed 2 Years.

A divorce decree was granted this week by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young to Mrs. Margaret Ethel Wottring Busard Saiter, 56, of 433 North State street, from Robert H. Saiter, 24, on grounds of gross neglect of duty. The suit, filed by Mrs. Saiter, was not contested. Her former name of Busard was restored.

They married Aug. 2, 1935, after courtship of four months. Mrs. Busard said at the time of the marriage she had wished to postpone the wedding until the astrological aspects of the heavens were more propitious but that Mr. Saiter was insistent.

In her petition for divorce she said he has neglected to support her, did not get work and that she was forced to provide for herself and the defendant. She said that "as a result of the treatment... all the love she once bore for the defendant has been destroyed."

It was her third marriage and Mr. Saiter's first. W. Dexter Hazen was her attorney.

HOLT ATTACKS 3RD TERM TALK

New Deal Foe Wants Senate To Pass Resolution To Ban Roosevelt in 1940.

SIMILAR STEP TAKEN IN '28

Other Democrats Doubt President Would Seek or Accept Renomination.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—Sen. Holt, Democrat of West Virginia, said today he will seek to record the senate against a third term for President Roosevelt.

A frequent administration critic, Holt said he would offer the same resolution opposing a third term which the senate approved in 1928 and the house adopted in 1875.

He noted that nearly a score of Democrats now in the senate voted nine years ago, when Calvin Coolidge was President, that a third term would be "unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

While Holt took this method of recognizing talk of a third term for the President, there were expressions of doubt from other Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt would seek or accept renomination in 1940.

Sen. Tydings, Democrat of New Mexico, said he "took no stock whatever in the talk of a third term."

"I don't think Mr. Roosevelt wants it," he added.

Before he left the capital after the adjournment of congress, Sen. George, Democrat of Georgia, said he was "confident" that the President "at the proper time" would declare his position and step aside for another.

Unwilling to be quoted directly in speculation in advance of the next campaign, other Democrats said privately they doubted a third term was likely.

Holt's resolution would be the second designed to put congress on record against a third term. Sen. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, offered one shortly before adjournment.

Sen. LaFollette, Progressive of Wisconsin, new deal champion, introduced the resolution which Democratic and some Republican votes put through the senate 56 to 25 in 1928. It was virtually identical in wording with a resolution which the house approved 234 to 18 in 1875, when Grant was nearing the end of his second term in the White House.

The senate, after several days of heated debate, reached a vote Feb. 10, 1928, a few months after President Coolidge's cryptic "I do not choose to run" pronouncement.

LaFollette is one of the senators closest to Roosevelt. There has been speculation that he might receive administration support for the presidency in 1940.

Secretary Wallace, himself talked of as the possible Democratic nominee, was asked about LaFollette yesterday at his press conference, but turned aside questions.

"I can do no speculating," he said. "You know I'm not a politician."

DOCTOR'S CONDITION UNCHANGED TODAY

Condition of Dr. J. A. Dodd, Marion physician and former president of the Marion Academy of Medicine, remained unchanged today at the Crile clinic in Cleveland, according to word received by relatives here. An operation will be performed in the next day or two as soon as his condition improves sufficiently, relatives said. Mrs. Dodd is in Cleveland with Dr. Dodd.

BRITISH SPEED MORE SHIPS TO THEIR LIFE LINE

Bolster Fleet Off Spain After Sinking of Steamer and Attack on Destroyer.

SOME BLAME ITALIANS

Mysterious Submarine Torpedoes Merchantman in Mediterranean.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 2—Britain, roused to indignant action by the mysterious sinking of a merchantman and the close escape of a destroyer from unidentified submarines off the Spanish coast, ordered her fleet reinforced today in the western Mediterranean.

Informed circles said the government suspected Italy of responsibility for strange and repeated assaults on shipping of many nations off the Spanish government coast, on the narrow British empire "life line."

The tanker Woodford, flying the British flag, went down off the east coast of Spain, torpedoed yesterday by an undersea craft near where the British destroyer Havock helped the warship dodge a torpedo Tuesday night.

Engineer Killed

The Woodford's second engineer was killed and six of her crew were injured.

The order for reinforcements was announced after tense cabinet members had attempted at two long sessions to shape the empire's policy against the attacks on her ships.

The Spanish government ambassador was summoned to the foreign office shortly before the second cabinet meeting adjourned early this afternoon.

One British flotilla, consisting of nine destroyers, now is engaged in Britain's Spanish patrol on the western Mediterranean. Two others, totalling 17 ships normally based at Malta, are on an autumn cruise off the Greek and Italian coasts.

Sub May Be Sunk

The possibility arose that the mysterious submarine that attacked the Havock had been destroyed by the Havock's defensive depth charges.

Members of the Havock's crew at Gibraltar said the destroyer, sighting the approaching torpedo, had zig-zagged and dropped five depth bombs.

Then the Havock signalled to other British warships and a watch was kept over a 15-mile radius. Soon oil appeared on the surface, indicating, the seamen believed, that the submarine had been sunk.

The order specifically instructing increased destroyer strength among the reinforcements, indicated that both capital ships and smaller men-of-war would be sent into the zone.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain kept in touch with the meeting of cabinet members by telephone.

For two and a half hours the ministers conferred with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. Present at the meeting were Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer; Viscount Halifax, Lord president of the council; Alfred Duff Cooper, first lord of the admiralty; William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, secretary of state for colonies; and Malcolm MacDonald, secretary of state for the dominions.

Sir John and MacDonald attended the holiday conference of ministers for the first time this

SCHOOLS HERE GET LOAN CERTIFICATES

$84,000 Borrowing Grant Goes to County and City in State Distribution.

Marion city and county schools are sharing to the extent of $83,294 in distribution of the state school foundation for the third quarter. The distribution is not in actual cash but in certificates against which the schools may borrow, according to The Associated Press at Columbus. The total in the state is $12,962,274.

The county schools have already received their certificates, totaling $34,175 and the city schools are expected to receive a certificate for $49,216 today or tomorrow.

Education Director E. N. Dietrich said vouchers totaling $11,297,009 will be mailed next week to retire notes issued by schools last June 1. Marion city schools had approximately $46,000 in certificates to borrow and recently authorized issuance of notes. County schools likewise received certificates to borrow about $34,000 last June. It is not known whether the various rural school boards borrowed.

Wyandot county schools were mailed certificates for $33,305, according to The Associated Press.

TRAIN KILLS DEAF MAN

Ed. F. Sharpless, Once Rated World's Greatest Ventriloquist, Dies Here

Stroke of Apoplexy Causes Death at 2:15 A. M. of Marion Man Who Headlined Vaudeville for 20 Years and Played Before European Royalty.

Edward F. Sharpless, 66, acclaimed 30 years ago as the greatest ventriloquist in vaudeville, and at the height of his career famed as "The Great Reynard," died suddenly of a stroke of apoplexy today at 2:15 a. m. Death occurred at the home of Miss Marjorie Whysall, of 194½ East Center street who, with a friend, had taken Mr. Sharpless riding earlier in the evening.

A week ago he suffered a sudden illness on the street in front of Weiler's cafe on North Main street, above which he had rooms on the third floor. He recovered, but since then had been in a weakened condition and yesterday complained of the extreme heat and spoke frequently of wanting to ride out into the country.

Some time ago friends east of Marion had invited him to their home during the hot weather season and last night Miss Marjorie Whysall and a friend offered to take him there. The family where he had planned to stay was gone, and they returned to Marion. Mr. Sharpless said he felt too ill to climb the three flights of stairs to his rooms, and went to the Whysall apartment to rest. He was stricken about 1:30 a. m. and a physician was called. A second doctor was called in, but Mr. Sharpless was dead when he arrived.

The body was taken to the C. E. Curtis Co. funeral home on East Center street and will remain there until funeral arrangements are made.

Famed for 20 Years

Over a period of about 20 years Mr. Sharpless enjoyed the fame that comes to stars of the theatrical world. Twenty years ago he retired from the stage and with the late Charles R. McMurray and G. H. Foster, who is now managing director of the Kenton theater for the Kenton Amusement Co., built the Marion theater here, the city's first modern amusement house.

Four years ago Mr. Sharpless planned to stage a comeback and appeared for a week on the Ohio theater stage here, but he had chosen to return to the stage at a time when the legitimate theater was in virtual eclipse and there were no calls for ventriloquists.

In recent years Mr. Sharpless sold and stocked vending machines. Occasionally he was called on to entertain and the last public appearance he made was at Hotel Harding when he demonstrated to members of the Ohio Rainbow Veterans association in state convention here, that he had lost nothing of his voice-throwing art.

Mr. Sharpless lived to see the return of his art to popularity, with the present day acclaim of Edgar Bergen and "Charlie McCarthy."

At Top of List

No ventriloquist is known to have topped "The Great Reynard." His act, "A Morning in Hicksville," required 18 figures, or dummies as they are better known, and equipment and paraphernalia valued at $5,000. The electrical equipment alone was valued at $1,000 and to present his show he used four assistants. It was said that the magnificence of the act he used drew applause even before he started on the stage.

Today not more than four of his figures are known to exist, and these he kept at the home of Vans Ireland of 139 Mary street, one of his closest friends. Mr. Ireland said today he believed Mr. Sharpless may have stored some of his equipment and perhaps other figures, but that he had never mentioned the whereabouts of the remaining evidence of his renowned act.

The Great Reynard was the intimate of stars in the heyday of the theater and Charlie Murray who was a stage comedian long before he went into pictures and became known for his work in the "Potash and Perlmutter" series, remained one of his best friends. They exchanged letters and kept in touch year after year. He knew Willie and Eugene Howard, Julian Eltinge, Ed Wynn, Frank Tinney, Pat Rooney and scores of other favorites of the day when vaudeville was at its zenith. He was starting at Hammerstein's in New York City when an unknown Englishman by the name of Charles Chaplin made his first appearance in this country there with an act billed "The Mumming Birds."

Above is a reprint of an advertisement which billed Ed F. Reynard when he appeared on the stage at Brighton-By-The-Sea, exclusive resort in the south of England. The date on the announcement is Monday, Jan. 9, 1906.

Toured with Great Shows

At the height of his fame he toured Canada, England and Scotland, and in this country he starred with the Orpheum road shows, was with "The Great Lafayette," "Primrose and Dockstader," the great Keith circuit and the Empire show when Jim Corbett was the headliner.

For three months he appeared at the famous Hippodrome theater in London, and was honored by the attendance of members of the royal family in the royal box. Nearly every night some member of royalty occupied the box.

A few years ago Mr. Sharpless said that, contrary to expectations, he found the Scotch caught his jokes much quicker than the Eng-

More Than 500 Die As Typhoon Hits Hongkong

20 Vessels Sunk and City's Business Section Made Heap of Debris.

By The Associated Press

HONGKONG, Sept. 2—More than 500 persons were believed today to have perished as the most devastating typhoon in 10 years lashed this British crown colony. At least 20 vessels were sunk by the fury of the wind.

Fire, raged through Hongkong. A wide area of this British colony was devastated and waist-deep in water.

Ship after ship was torn from its storm mooring in the crowded harbor and went careening helplessly in a macabre romp. The business section of Hongkong was a veritable shambles. Scores of buildings were unroofed and their fronts smashed in like they were tinder. The streets were littered with wrecked motor cars.

Countless scores of small craft were tossed like chips against the seawall and those who made them their home were drowned.

Fifty Chinese were reported to have been killed when a block of buildings collapsed at Tai Po.

Along the coast at Macao property damage was done, particularly at the picturesque Chinese quarter of that city.

Beginning Sept. 7, applications will be taken only from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m., Mr. Guthrie said. The exact quota for the county has not been set.

BOMBS IMPERIL U. S. MARINES

Japanese Planes Drop Explosives Near Sector Held by Americans.

LINE IN RANGE OF FIRE

Fliers Aiming at Chinese Mint and Other Government Buildings.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2—Japanese air squadrons dumped bombs on the northern borders of the international settlement in a sunset air raid this evening, just missing the sand-bagged sectors defended by American marines.

The bombs played havoc with life and property but, apparently achieved no military objective.

Shrapnel fell about United States marine posts. The American lines were directly in the range of fire. The steel-helmeted marines were in imminent danger of serious casualties in case Japanese air bombers or naval gunners overshot their marks, the Chinese government mint, and other administrative buildings.

Battle Rages To North

A dozen miles to the north the major fighting surged on, with Japanese asserting their troops were approaching the walls of Paoshan and Chinese declaring their lines were holding firm. The Japanese admitted their earlier claim to the capture of Paoshan was a mistake.

Liuho, in this area, was pounded fiercely by Great Japanese naval shells and air bombs, but the Chinese troops stayed. About historic Woosung, too, where some sections still are held by the Chinese, there was furious Japanese bombardment from air and sea.

American naval observers were amazed at the prodigal use of the expensive Japanese shells and bombs, most of which were falling in wastelands undefended by the Chinese.

Where the Chinese troops did come in range, they burrowed into the earth like groundhogs, coming out only when the bombardment waned.

Dominate Railroad

In the northern provinces the Japanese army brought the entire length of the Peiping-Kalgan railroad under its domination, and dispatches from Kalgan said a Japanese-fostered "peace maintenance commission" had been set up, similar to those already established in Peiping and Tientsin.

These were seen generally as forerunners to Japanese-controlled "autonomous anti-Communist governments" in the north.

Shortly before the sunset attack, Japanese naval authorities warned the British army to evacuate its outposts on the western boundary of the international settlement as they were preparing to bomb the Chinese communication lines in the adjacent Jessfield park district. The British did not reply.

The endangered British outposts are an extension of the line held by American marines. St. John's university is a scant few hundred yards from the Jessfield park station and the railroad and highway bridges across Soochow creek.

Seek To Land Troops

In a desperate effort to bolster her blocked offensive on the Yangtze front 12 miles north of Shanghai, Japan was attempting to land approximately 42,000 fresh troops from the homeland on the Liuho and Woosung shores.

Crack Chinese divisions were holding up the Japanese advance all along the curving 20-mile battle-front from the historic Woosung forts, through Paoshan to Liuho. There was fierce fighting in every sector.

American naval observers reported 14 Japanese transports off Liuho and 16 others off Woosung, endeavoring to discharge troops, tanks and heavy artillery.

American naval officers estimated this would bring Japan's forces in the Shanghai-Woosung-Liuho sector to more than 75,000 men, opposed to a Chinese strength of some 200,000.

HOUSING BILL BECOMES LAW

Roosevelt Signature Starts $526,000,000 Program To Clean Out Slums.

HELIUM ACT SIGNED, TOO

Permits Foreign Sales for Trade but Not Military Purposes.

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 2—President Roosevelt announced today his approval of the Wagner-Steagall bill launching a $526,000,000 experiment in federal-local slum clearance and low-rent housing construction.

He also signed the senate bill authorizing a government monopoly in the production of helium and changing export rules to permit its sale to foreign countries in restricted quantities for commercial or medical purposes.

Agitation for loosening existing restrictions on export of this non-inflammable gas began soon after the German dirigible Hindenburg crashed in flames after an explosion at Lakehurst, N. J.

Under the new act, no helium purchased abroad could be used for military purposes and all foreign sales would have to be approved first by six government agencies.

The loan-grant housing act, carrying out one of the President's campaign promises, creates a United States housing authority in the department of the interior with an initial capital of $1,000,000 already appropriated.

It also authorizes up to $500,000,000 in government-guaranteed bonds to raise funds for loans and an additional appropriation of $25,000,000 for grants. Funds for grants, proponents of the act say, will not be needed until actual construction is well under way.

The housing authority may lend to public housing agencies up to 90 per cent of the cost of the projects. The local communities would put up the other 10 per cent. Loans may run for a maximum of 60 years.

Under an optional section, the authority may make outright contributions of 25 per cent of the project cost with the President having the right to effect out of relief funds an additional 15 per cent to pay for labor costs.

SIR MALCOLM TOPS HIS OWN SPEED MARK

Lifts World Motorboat Record to 129 Miles an Hour in Switzerland.

By The Associated Press

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Sept. 2—Piloting up where he left off yesterday, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, hurled the world's motorboat record to 129.586 miles an hour on Lake Maggiore today.

Finding wind conditions favorable over the course of the world's fastest mark of 124.86 M. P. H. set by Campbell himself two years ago, the speedboat roared twice over the measured course to crack the old record and then set up yesterday by a comfortable margin.

On the outward trip, Sir Malcolm travelled at a clip of 130.3478 M. P. H. On the return trip his pace fell off to 128.8606 M. P. H. but his average of 129.4176 was well beyond the record of 124.7868 he established yesterday. Gar Wood, Detroit veteran, set the former standard of 124.86 M. P. H. [illegible]

CITES NEED OF HIGHER CHARGE

Not Only Asks Proposed Rate Be Disallowed but Says Increase Justified.

CITY WILL ACT SOON

Case Then Will Be Ready for Decision by State Utilities Commission.

The Marion Water Co., in a 74-page brief filed with the state utilities commission today, not only asked that a proposed 12½ per cent rate reduction sought by the city of Marion be refused but also contends the company is entitled to rates higher than those now in effect.

The brief, one of the final pleadings to go before the commission before it decides the Marion water rate controversy, was filed with the commission yesterday. A copy of it was received this morning by City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart.

Whether the company's contention that it is entitled to a higher rate was placed in the brief in the form of a request for an increase in rates here or only for the purpose of defeating the reduction proposed by council is a matter of conjecture.

Mayor Frederick C. Smith, commenting on it, said he feels the company "would not risk" asking for an increase in present rates, adding that "it is outrageous that it should ask to keep the present rates in effect."

Cite Previous Statements

Both he and City Solicitor Carhart cited previous statements of the company's representatives at the rate hearing that the company was not asked for an increase but was confining itself to a defense of the proposed reduction.

The company, according to the brief, is entitled to an increase in gross revenues of not less than $20,000 and probably of $41,000." This is in contrast with the city's contention that the 12½ per cent rate reduction should be sustained, a move that would cut the company's gross revenue approximately $20,000 annually.

The brief was signed by John W. Murdock Jr. of New York City, attorney for the water company. City Solicitor Carhart will prepare and answer brief to file with the commission within the next two weeks and the controversy will then be ready, with the possible exception of a reply brief from the company for decision by the commission.

Aside from its contention that it is entitled to more revenue than the present rates provide, the company devotes most of its brief to a detailed review of the testimony taken at the hearing, a comparison of testimony given by company and commission engineers and accountants, lengthy citations of law which the company contends is applicable to the Marion rate case and a summary of its arguments. The company also contends the testimony submitted by the city through E. W. Wood, Marion certified public accountant, should not be given weight, arguing that Mr. Wood was not experienced in the operation of waterworks properties. Mr. Wood was the city's only witness.

Sets Fair Return

The commission must fix rates for the future which will yield a fair return on present fair value. Under the evidence in the record this fair return must be not less than seven per cent on either one of the company's properties, or rate base A, $1,377,676 (fixed by commission engineers as the value of the company's property) or rate base B, $1,541,300 (fixed by the company's engineers as the value of the property or some base between these two). The company therefore contends to either $96,437 or $107,891 as fair return upon the proper operating [illegible] base upon depreciation as [illegible] in the evidence. The company is entitled to an increase [illegible] present revenues of not less than $20,000 and probably of $41,000. JEWISH NEW YEAR TO BE OBSERVED

Marion Congregation of Israel Will Join in Celebration.

The Marion Congregation of Israel will join with Jews throughout the world in ushering in the Jewish year 5698 next Monday. Orthodox Jews will have services on two days and the Liberal congregation will celebrate the observance on one day.

The New Year holyday is known in Hebrew as Rosh Hashanah.

The Marion congregation will have a service Sunday night promptly at 8, and another Monday at 10 a. m. George G. Kleinmaier, a member, will conduct both services, which will be held in the temple rooms in the Marion National bank building.

Choir singing will be directed by Mrs. Victor E. Dombaugh. Mrs. Clarence L. Rutherford and Harwood Taylor will be soloists at both services.

The sermon Sunday night, "The Book of Life," was written by Rabbi Samuel Schwartz of Chicago. A sermon by Rabbi Henry F. Kegan of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., on "Return to Old Truths," will be read Monday morning.

Since the Hebrew day is reckoned from sunset to sunset, the holyday will begin Sunday. Rosh Hashanah literally means "the beginning of the year" and marks the start of the season known in Jewish tradition as the Ten Days of Penitence.

MARRIAGES EXCEED DIVORCES IN MONTH

Marriages far exceeded divorces in Marion county courts last month, Dan Cupid ringing up a total of 26 weddings against nine divorces. The divorces, however, were all granted in the last half of the month, Judge Hector S. Young of common pleas court being absent the first part.

Other marriage licenses were issued in the last few days of August, but the returns from the ministers confirming the marriages have not been made in probate court.

Judge Young granted six divorces to wives and three to husbands, seven on grounds of gross neglect, one for wilful absence and one for both wilful absence and gross neglect.

RELIEF APPLICATION OPERATION CHANGED

New Requests for Aid Will Be Taken Only in Morning Hours.

Due to a recent reduction of personnel, a change of operation at the Marion relief headquarters will take place beginning Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Applications for relief and CCC registrations will only be taken from 8:30 until 11:30 a. m. This does not include Saturdays or days on which food orders are distributed. The change was announced today by Frank E. Burns, relief director.

The reduction of the staff has made it necessary for all available employees to devote more time to field and house investigation, Mr. Burns said.

During the last week, there has been a marked increase in the number of applications for relief Mr. Burns said closer investigation will be necessary to keep chiselers from relief lists.

The local office is without funds to provide clothing for children who are returning to school. The only clothing that is available is that which is made by the WPA sewing center.

Details of New State Labor Laws Received

Official Literature Placed in Chamber of Commerce Offices for Marion Employers.

[illegible] official literature and details of new Ohio laws affecting [illegible] labor, compulsory education and child labor in which Marion employers have been [illegible] widespread interest has [illegible] at the Chamber of Commerce here, W. D. Brown, secretary of the chamber, said his office has been set up as a central office for distribution of the [illegible] in Marion.

The chamber was selected after a recent visit here by F. F. Garsuch, field deputy in the department of industrial relations, division of factory and building inspection, under which the enforcement of the law falls. Mr. Gorsuch has offices in Mt. Vernon.

Summary of Laws

A summary of the laws as contained in the literature left by Mr. Garsuch follows:

Female labor—Males under 18 and all females must not be employed more than eight hours a day, or more than 48 hours a week, or more than six days in any seven consecutive days. Except on Saturdays or on days preceding legal holidays, women may work 10 hours a day in a mercantile establishment. In manufacturing women may not work more than 48 hours a week, eight hours a day or more than six days a week. Females between 16 and 18 shall not work before 7 a. m. or after 6 p. m. Females between 18 and 21 and males between 16 and 18 shall not work before 6 a. m. or after 10 p. m. No female under 21 can be employed at work that compels her to stand constantly. Females may not be employed as [illegible] watchmen, section hands, bell hops, express drivers, moulders, taxi or jitney drivers or meter readers. They may sell tickets only between 6 a. m. and 10 p. m. They may not work in shoe shining parlors, bowling alleys, pool rooms, bar rooms and saloons, catering exclusively to men.

If during the day the work is divided into two periods, the periods must fall within 10 consecutive hours. The law applies in no way to women in agricultural, domestic, professional (medicine, law, teaching, social work), nurses and other hospital capacities.

No employer shall employ a female more than five hours unless the period is broken by a meal period of at least a half hour.

Every employer must supply each woman employe with a suitable seat to be used when the workers are not actively engaged. If a separate lunch room is provided by the employer only a half hour is needed for lunch, if not, an hour is needed.

Employers must post the hour schedules and rules conspicuously for the convenience of inspectors. Violation of sections of the law carry fines ranging from $25 to $200 or terms of imprisonment up to 60 days.

Compulsory Education

Child labor and compulsory education: no child under 16 shall be employed while the schools of the district in which the child resides are in session unless he works irregularly at specified occupations or holds an age and schooling certificate.

A child over 14 may be employed during vacation periods and after school hours in specified occupations, provided proper age and health certificates are secured.

Age and schooling certificates or over-age certificates are required for all minors up to 18 and must be kept on file by proper officials. When a child's employment ceases the certificates must be returned immediately to the superintendent of schools.

When part time schools are established in any district in which a minor resides or is employed, all minors under 18 who have been granted certificates must attend such schools unless excused by proper authorities.

No child under 16 can be employed at dangerous machinery or in any occupation where health may be injured or morals depraved or at tobacco trades.

Wage Agreement

Written agreement as to compensation to be paid minors must be made before minors can be employed. No wages can be withheld from minors because of presumed negligence, failure to comply with rules, breakage of machinery, alleged incompetence or failure to perform labor according to merit standards.

A child of compulsory school age may be excused from attendance if determined by proper authorities to be incapable of profiting substantially by further instruction.

Fines under the child labor and education laws range from $20 to $50 for each offense.

Mr. Brown said employers may obtain literature from him or by writing to the department of industrial relations at Columbus.

What To Do-

If Someone Apparently Drowns

1. Start artificial respiration immediately after the body is pulled out. Persons "apparently drowned" have been revived after as long as 20 to 30 minutes under water.
2. Get a doctor.
3. Loosen any tight clothing. Keep the patient warm and lying down.
4. Do not give him any liquids until he is fully conscious.

By The Associated Press

Here is the prone pressure method of artificial respiration endorsed by the American Red Cross:

Lay the patient on his stomach with one arm extended, the other bent at the elbow so that his face, turned outward, rests on his hand or forearm. His nose and mouth should be low and unobstructed.

Kneel, straddling his thighs. Place the palm of your hands on the small of his back with little fingers just touching his lowest ribs.

With arms extended, swing forward gradually, bringing your weight to bear upon him. (Don't press too hard if you're big and he's small.) Take about two seconds for this. It compresses the lungs.

Next, swing back quickly to remove the pressure. This lets the lungs expand. After two seconds, swing forward again. Repeat the whole procedure 12 to 15 times a minute for several hours if necessary or until a doctor pronounces the person dead.

Marion Beats Tiffin, 11-6; Teams Clash Again Today

GEYGANITES TO END SEASON MONDAY IN DOUBLE BILL HERE

Fremont To Visit Lincoln Park for Contest Winding Up Schedule.

With only five games remaining on the schedule, Marion's second place entry in the Ohio State league suddenly came to life and pounded out a 11-6 verdict over the Tiffin Mud Hens in a game played yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park.

Threatening weather kept the attendance mark at a low ebb as the Geyganites trotted out their big guns to score in every inning with the exception of the third and fifth. Stiewe and Eader paced the local nine with three safe bingles apiece and between them scored enough runs to lie the visiting Hens.

Tomorrow the two teams will meet for the last time this season on the Tiffin lot. The Marion club will make every effort to bring home a victory in the hope that the Mansfield Red Birds, now leading the league by a small margin, might run into difficulty with either the Findlay Browns or the Mud Hens of Tiffin, before the completion of their schedule.

Mitchell Retired

Mitchell started on the mound for the visitors but ran into difficulty at the outset. A walk by Stiewe and singles by Pintek and Swed trotted two runs across in the first inning. A single by Mulvihill, a walk by Brich and a scorching triple by Stiewe tallied two more runs for the men of Geygan before Mitchell was replaced by Lupo.

Tiffin retaliated in the third with three runs scored on three singles and a base on balls but not before Marion had added another run to their total in the fourth, with hits by Eader and Kauffman and a base on balls to Pintek.

With the score 5-4 going into the sixth, the Hens let their generosity get away with them and committed two costly errors which were sandwiched among hits by Eader, Swed and Harris.

Not content, the locals came back to score three runs in the seventh to put the contest on ice. A single by Kauffman, a double by Swed and a triple by Eader was responsible for the damage in this frame.

Tiffin Rally Falls

Four consecutive hits constituted an eighth inning rally by the visitors, but the best they could get was two runs to bring the score to 11-6. The game was called at this point due to darkness.

Neither pitcher was very effective in the pinches. Good support when it would have been appreciated was lacking. Lupo allowed only one more hit than Brich but the Marion hurler kept his hits scattered in such a way that he was only in serious trouble in the third.

The Marion-Tiffin game is the only contest today. The teams are playing a postponed game. However, on Friday, Findlay will attempt to halt the Mansfield pennant-plunge and the Fostoria Red Birds will try to keep up the good work that they have displayed in recent games when they meet Tiffin.

All teams will be idle Saturday but will swing back into action Sunday for six games. Findlay

Paul Waner - No. 2 Hitter

Paul the Pirate is a buccaneer of base-hits. It's Paul Waner of Pittsburgh's Pirtes whose batting average is second highest in major league baseball. Only Ducky Medwick of St. Louis has wielded a heavier willow this season. Bucaneer Paul and his younger brother Lloyd are known thoughout the sporting world as the "Poison Twins." He has been a topnotch player in the National league for a number of years.

National League Pennant Race Still Hot as Intersectional Series End.

BY BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League intersectional series that were supposed to provide so much of the answer to the still-presented question, "Who's going to cop the pennant?" ends today.

But as far as any decisive settlement of the issue is concerned, everything is as clear as this morning's coffee grounds.

The Giants, back on top by those same two percentage points that separated them from the Cubs on Tuesday night, planned to send Harry Gumbert against the Cardinals in the final engagement of their series that stands deadlocked at one-all as the result of the Ferrymen's 7-3 win yesterday.

The Cubs, drubbed by the Dodgers in the second encounter of their three-game set, 6-4, pinned their hopes on Bill Lee in their season's farewell—barring appearance in the World Series—to the east.

Since the Chicagoans came east on a four-game lead, they have dropped a doubleheader to the current pace-setters and split two games each with the Bees, Phils and Dodgers. The Giants, during that time, won two from the Cubs, three out of four from Pittsburgh, two straight from the Reds and split two with the Cards.

This morning, the figures read.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	72	47	.605
Chicago	73	48	.603

The Giants profited yesterday from another neat pitching job by Hal Schumacher and Mel Ott's 29th homer that put him one up on Ducky Medwick to celebrate the announcement of boss Bill Terry's new five-year contract.

The two top teams have outdistanced pursuit.

That drubbing by the Giants dropped the Cards 7½ games off the pace, while the once-threatening Pirates, losing their seventh straight to the Phils by 5-3, now are 11 games behind.

That's the same margin that continues to split the American League-leading Yanks from the Tigers. Denny Galehouse of the Indians stopped the Ruppert riot squad with seven hits, 4-2, but at the same time the Tigers were bowing 8-2 to dome very fine elbowing by Wes Ferrell and hard hitting by the other Senators.

In the National League the Bees and Reds swapped good pitching. Paul Derringer checking Boston, 2-1, on six hits, and Lou Fette returning the compliment for the Bees, 4-1, on eight.

Rain stopped the Red Sox-White Sox doubleheader, but not before Lefty Grove had won a six-inning, 2-0 shutout. The Athletics sneaked out of the cellar and dropped the Browns in by trimming them, 5-2.

TERRY'S PAY TO BE TOPS FOR MANAGER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—Win or lose in his current bid to pilot the New York Giants to their third National League pennant in five seasons, Memphis Bill Terry will be baseball's highest-paid manager, in 1938.

He will be, that is, unless his neighboring rival, Joe McCarthy of the world champion Yankees, gets his stipend substantially increased as a reward for present and pending accomplishments.

McCarthy now is getting $35,000 a year to Terry's $27,500 but under the terms of a new five-year contract, effective next season, the pilot of the Giants will, it is believed, be paid $40,000 annually.

The only managerial salaries believed to have topped this amount were those paid to Connie Mack of the Athletics and Terry's predecessor, John J. McGraw at the height of boom times. Tops for a player was Babe Ruth's $80,000.

Under his new contract, which displaces a five-year document that had one more year to run, Terry will become general manager of the Giants, besides continuing to direct the club on the field.

RED BIRDS LEADING BY 1 GAME IN CLOSE PENNANT CONTEST

Columbus Clings to Top Spot by Winning Two Games from Indians.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—It's beginning to look as though the American's dizzy three-way pennant battle among Columbus, Toledo and Minneapolis will not be settled until the last game of the regular schedule is over Sept. 12.

The Red Birds were still on top today, following a doubleheader victory over Indianapolis last night, but Toledo which whipped Louisville twice was only a game behind, and Minneapolis when split a pair with Kansas City, was only a half-game back of the Mud Hens.

Columbus protected its scanty lead with the aid of a pair of effective pitching performances by Johnny Chambers and Nelson Potter. In the opener Chambers kept nine Indian hits so well scattered that he emerged with an 11 to 0 shutout. Potter gave up nine hits in the second game, which the Red Birds won, 6 to 4, but eased up in the last two innings to lose his chances of a shutout.

Toledo staged two big assaults on Louisville pitching to gain 10 to 6, and 15 to 5 decisions.

Minneapolis blasted out 16 hits against two Kansas City pitchers, to win the first game, 18 to 12. The Blues, however, bunched 12 safeties off Belve Bean for a 6 to 5 decision in the night cap.

St. Paul and Milwaukee went to extremes in sharing a doubleheader. The Saints took the opener, 1 to 0, while the Brewers thumped out 15 hits for a 15 to 9 victory in the other end of the program.

College All Stars Beat Professional Champions, 6-0

5,560 SEE BAUGH THROW 20-YARD PASS GOOD FOR VICTORY

Green Bay Packers Become First Pro Team To Bow to Collegian Stars.

By WILLIAM WEEKES
By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—Samuel Adrian Baugh—"Slingin' Sam" of Texas Christian university—is all football player anybody ever saw, if he was, as the professional champion Green Bay Packers will have en masse to attest.

The Packers had heard about Baugh, but they had to wait until last night at Soldier Field, with a record throng of 85,560 fans looking on, to get it first hand. They became the first professional team to take a beating from an All Star collegiate aggregation, and it was Baugh who was the number one star of the collegians' 6 to 0 triumph.

The former Texas Christian ace was expected to give Green Bay's Cecil Herber quite a battle at passing, but he wound up by outshining his professional rival at throwing the football when the blue chips were down, and did a lot of other things besides.

Early in the first period, Baugh, director of the battle plan laid out by Coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorais of the University of Detroit, head of the All Star board of strategy, started the one successful thrust of the night, by a quick kick over the Packer goal line. The kick boot by Clarke Hinkle, the Packers' great fullback, went out of bounds on the Collegians' 48-yard line.

Baugh called two running plays, then electrified the huge crowd by reworking the payoff pass of the game, a 20-yard shot to Gaynell Tinsley, Louisana State All American end. Tinsley caught the ball 15 yards from the Packer goal, executed a neat change of pace to leave Hank Bruder clawing air and raced to the touchdown.

Sam Francis, Nebraska's All-America fullback failed on the try for the extra point, but it was never missed as the All Stars, with Baugh one of the main characters, played an almost airtight defensive game the rest of the way.

The professional champions tried everything in their bag of tricks to fight their way back to victory with Herber firing passes and George Sauer and Joe Laws running with the ball, they outgained the Collegians in first down, 17 to 9, and in total yardage, 343 to 155. But their best was a rousing 73-yard drive that fell three yards short of a touchdown in the second period.

He is known to a number of Marion grid fans having played against former Bucyrus high squads while attending high school at Bucyrus.

Briton Builds Giant Auto Racer, Seeks World Mark

By HOWARD BERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 2—In a giant 36-foot streamlined 3,225 horsepower racing automobile—the mightiest thing on wheels the world has ever seen—Captain George Eyston, the well-known British motorist, will flash across the salt beds near Salt Lake City, Utah, probably this month in an attempt to break Sir Malcolm Campbell's world land speed record of 301.1 miles per hour.

Built in secret to Captain Eyston's own design, the racing car is powered by two giant engines, has eight wheels and handmade tires costing more than $500 apiece.

Streamlined so that it gives the appearance of an enormous fish, the car is twice as powerful as Blue Bird, in which Sir Malcolm Campbell set up the existing record two years ago.

It has four wheels at the front—like the bogie of an express—all of them connected to the steering wheel, and "twin" rear wheels similar to those on a large truck.

Special brakes, like dry-plate clutches operating over the wheels have been designed. To cool them—and enough heat to boil 500 gallons of water is generated on one application of the brakes—there is a huge centrifugal fan driven by the engines.

Although it was reported that he hoped to attain a speed of 400 miles per hour with his new car, Captain Eyston himself, although confident of breaking the record, is not so ambitious.

"You see," Captain Eyston explained, "the difficulties over 300 miles per hour are increased enormously by small increments of speed. It becomes a question of having tremendous power and being able to transmith that power to the road wheels. Therefore, one is entirely dependent on the nature of the track.

"Although the design may ultimately aim at speeds approaching 400 miles per hour it must be a matter of technical development to attain anything like such high figures. For the moment I am prepared to concentrate upon preliminary trials to satisfy myself that anything approaching this speed is a practical possibility."

Meanwhile the state of Utah salt beds is giving Captain Eyston plenty to think about.

"The beds are still flooded," he said. "They must be thoroughly dry. We shall be extremely lucky if we get anything like a long run, even in late autumn.

"Speeds of over 300 miles per hour are possible only if one gets a run of say, 12 miles. I shall certainly require that for my car. Each end of the track is boggy and needs a large amount of sunbaking if one is to get a long run.

"My car has been built in a great hurry (the work was begun only six months ago) and I shall not be able to run her until I get to the salt beds. However, it is an honest endeavor to get fresh data with which to achieve higher speeds than have been achieved up to now."

The China National Aviation Corporation, a Sino-American enterprise, which operates more than 40 per cent of commercial air transportation in China, claims to be the only large air transport service in the world without government aid.

A Safety Tip FOR YOUR Labor Day Trip

TAPPING RUBBER TREES ON FIRESTONE PLANTATIONS IN LIBERIA
From the Firestone plantations in Liberia comes an ever-increasing supply of the world's finest rubber. Money saved here and in manufacturing and distribution enable Firestone to sell a safer, dependable tire at lower prices.

Here's Why FIRESTONE STANDARD TIRES GIVE YOU MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

DON'T take chances on your Labor Day trip. Protect yourself and family by equipping your car with a set of new first-quality Firestone Standard Tires. Firestone builds extra quality and extra safety into these tires and sells them at lower prices because Firestone controls rubber and cotton supplies at their sources, manufactures with greater efficiency and distributes at lower cost.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST BLOWOUTS—eight extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord because every fiber of every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping Process. This counteracts the internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST PUNCTURES—because there are two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread.

YOU GET EXTRA PROTECTION AGAINST SKIDDING—because the tread is scientifically designed.

YOU GET LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE—because of the extra-tough, long-wearing tread.

You need all of these features to make your car tire-safe on your Labor Day trip. Firestone gives them to you at lower cost. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires—today's top tire values.

DON'T RISK YOUR LIFE ON SMOOTH WORN TIRES!

Galion Cyclist Rides 1,800 Miles in Seven States

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 2—Galion's marathon bicyclist for the summer is Michael Eckstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Eckstein of Harding Way west, who returned late Tuesday night after a trip of the past five weeks through seven states. His trip covered some 1,800 miles, 1,600 miles of which he pedaled. His biggest pedaling day was 125 miles made in 13 hours when he didn't receive a "lift."

Michael "roughed" it most of the time, he said, rolling up in a blanket along the side of the road to sleep at nights. His trip cost him about $35, most of which was spent in the cities he visited.

He reported going through West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. He spent six days in Washington, D. C. His most impressive trip was to Williamsburg, Va., and he said that "southern hospitality" really exists.

The first leg of the trip, Galion to Cincinnati, was made by machine, and after that he hit Route 50 to Washington.

Another highlight of the trip was at Chautauqua, N. Y., where he heard Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt speak. He finished his trip after visiting the exposition at Cleveland, and then pedaled to Galion.

The Stars Say--

For Friday, Sept. 3

ACCORDING to the lunar transits having effect on the affairs of this day, there may be a matter of secrecy or intrigue to be turned to a profitable culmination. In this there may be some disappointments, obstructions or delays, but with the exercise of certain subtleties, subterfuges or undercover agreements and understandings, there may be benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which their success may depend on diplomacy, stratagem, collusion or methods of intrigue or subtlety. Distrusting and obstructing factors call for such shrewd or crafty manipulation in order to be successful.

A child born on this day may have a studious and meditative nature. It may be given to secrecy, subtlety and intrigue rather than direct action. But shrewdness and craft, with novelty and the unusual of importance, may assist it to success and personal gratification.

By United Press.

DENNISVILLE, O. — "Nig," pet black cat of County Commissioner Thomas Sweeney, is fond of corn on the cob, and "Nig" doesn't want it cooked corn. He eats it raw, pawing the ear expertly as he holds it between his paws.

STOCKS STRIKE BOTTOM AGAIN

Japanese Warning to Foreign Ships To Avoid China Chills Trade Sentiment.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — Stock market leaders swung into another downward loop today but encountered sufficient support to avert a tailspin.

Many issues hit bottom for the year.

With Japan warning foreign ships away from the Chinese war zone and further doubts arising concerning the state of domestic trade, brokers said speculative forces continued to edge toward the side-lines.

Bonds were inclined to give ground. Commodities displayed reviving tendencies, with grain and cotton futures improving.

While there were exceptions in the stock retreat, weakness was shown by steels, motors, farm implements, oils, coppers, rails and specialties.

J. I. Case dropped seven points and Allied Chemical five as the worst. Prominent with lesser reversals were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Wheeling Steel, Crucible, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, International Harvester, Anaconda, New York Central, Sears Roebuck, and U. S. Rubber.

Signing of the sugar quota bill helped shares in this department. Sugar futures also exhibited strength.

Steel observers pointed out that, even if the reduced inflow of orders keeps mill operations down to 80 per cent of capacity during the next several months, price weakness is unlikely because of the bolstering effect of foreign inquiries and the possibility of increasing demand from building, shipbuilding and railroad fields.

MEMBERS OF BAND GIVEN UNIFORMS

Uniforms were distributed to old members of the Harding High school band last night at the first rehearsal of the season at Central Junior High school, Homer E. Huffman, instrumental supervisor and band director, said today. Selection of a drum major was delayed, probably until next Wednesday, to give more prospective candidates a chance to try out.

Approximately 50 students attended the meeting last night, many of them recruits. They will be given uniforms when they are enrolled as band members, Mr. Huffman said. The uniforms are cherry red and black and were purchased last year.

WHEAT PRICES CLIMB AFTER SLOW START

Report of Beneficial Rains in Argentine Ineffective but Profit Taken.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 2—The wheat market developed unexpected strength today with volume expanded considerably after a slow, indifferent start.

The trade was impressed by strength at Buenos Aires despite reports of rain there beneficial to parched wheat lands. Wheat was 2½ cents a bushel higher and trade on a fairly broad scale, but profit taking near the close erased part of the bulge. Private reports, estimating crops about as expected, had little influence on grains.

Wheat closed firm, 1¼@2 cents higher than yesterday's finish, September 1.06⅝@⅞, December 1.07½@⅝, corn was stronger, ¾@1⅝ advanced, September 95½@⅝, December 62⅞@63, and oats ¾@1¼ up.

"HANDIES" HELP GET SERVICE FOR MEXICO TOURISTS

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY — Remember "handies"?

Down here they were old stuff before ever the game swept the United States. Mexican tourists who speak no Spanish long have used handies as a sign language for communication with native merchants and waiters.

In these pictures Jose F. Rojas ambidextrous and ambi-lingual Mexican newspaperman, demonstrates for prospective American visitors three of the words they will need most:

"I WANT A DRINK"—Thumb and little finger extended as hand is jerked toward the mouth. Any barkeeper in Mexico City at least, will understand you.

"AND FOOD" — Fingers bunched as hand is moved toward the mouth. The waiter will bring you something to eat, but you'll have to take your chances on what it may be.

"THAT'S ENOUGH" — Forefinger raised and waved in front of the face. This comes in handy (no handle, you punster) when you Mexican friends urge "just one more." If they don't understand readily, put on your hat and turn to go—as Senor Rojas has done.

APPEALS SUIT IN SILICOSIS DEATH

Widow Carries Action for Damages in Husband's Death to Supreme Court.

Notice of appeal to the state supreme court was filed this morning by Mrs. Delpha Riffee of 453 Mound street in her two suits for $150,000 damages against the Marion Steam Shovel Co. for the death of her husband, allegedly due to silicosis.

Her suits, one filed as administratrix of the estate for $25,000 and the other as widow for $125,000, were decided in favor of the defendant company this July in the Third district court of appeals. Several other suits were similarly decided. The total being sought by workmen and their relatives in Marion is $740,000.

Mrs. Riffee, represented by Paul D. Smith and Dr. Thomas H. Sutherland, is basing her appeal on questions of law.

TRICK MARKSMAN TO PERFORM HERE

Adolph Topperwein, the "wizard of the rifle" from San Antonio, Tex., arrived in Marion this morning to give an exhibition at the Marion gun club this afternoon at 2 p. m. Topperwein is regarded as one of the world's foremost fancy shots and was recently featured in a Ripley "Believe-it-or-Not" sketch.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Sept. 2—Continued irregularity of wool prices in Australia and an absence of demand for wool from domestic mills today caused some uncertainty over the price situation in the wool market.

Most holders of domestic wools, however, have adopted a waiting policy and are not offering their wools.

An occasional lot of fine western grown wool was being offered at a slight concession from last week's asking prices but the aggregate volume of such offerings appeared very small.

CHILD YIELDS 'IRON LUNG' TO SAVE FELLOW PATIENT

Wooden Respirator Flown from Toronto To Help Two Victims of Chest Ailment at Denver.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 2—Death apparently was thwarted today by a courageous girl of 2½ and an international race to deliver two respirators to a Denver hospital where doctors had but one "iron-lung" for a pair of infantile paralysis victims.

Tiny Shirley Krause survived the night outside the mechanical lung which had been her home since Aug. 13. She gave up "her box" so that Maybelle Outcalt, 15, might continue breathing despite her paralyzed chest muscles.

A fire truck and its motorcycle police escort delivered a wooden respirator to the hospital early today after the breathing device had been transported here by plane from Toronto, via Chicago and Buffalo.

Doctors and mechanics hastily began assembling the "lung" which was knocked down in 11 pieces when officials of the Toronto hospital for sick children started it on its journey yesterday.

Another respirator, of steel construction, was due by fast train from Chicago.

A page of typewritten notes and half a dozen undeveloped pictures of the 230-pound wooden respirators were sent along with it to guide mechanics and doctors in assembling it. Time did not permit Toronto hospital officials to prepare more complete directions.

The Canadian lung was flown to the border by seaplane, carried in a truck to the Buffalo airport, and transferred to a Chicago-bound plane. At Chicago, the device was transferred again.

The tension that gripped the hospital Monday afternoon when the Outcalt girl was received, needing treatment in the lung that had been sustaining the Krause girl's life, was relieved by word of the arrival of a second—and a third—lung.

Even then, the object of the international race might have been defeated had not the Krause girl rallied sufficiently to be removed temporarily from the lung.

Hospital attendants watched Shirley anxiously throughout last night, fearing she might suffer a relapse that would have presented the grim problem of saving one girl and losing the other.

The Krause girl was called the "gamest human being I've ever seen" by Dr. T. L. Williams, assistant manager of health.

"To ask that little girl to abandon the only means she had to live is the worst job I've ever had," Dr. Williams said.

"I'd hate to think what the answer would have been if she had been an adult—afraid to die."

Shirley obligingly had said she would "give up my box" when the Outcalt girl was brought in.

WALDO GIRL WINS MORE FAIR HONORS

Additional Livestock Awards Go to Helen Strine, Grand Championship Winner.

Helen Strine, 17, of Waldo, owner and shower of the grand champion steer at the Ohio State fair, won additional honors in the open class judging, and exhibitors from Union county won ribbons in the swine and sheep exhibits, according to a Columbus news report today.

A total of 80,000 fair visitors was expected for governor's day today at the fair. Governor Martin L. Davey and his cabinet were to be guests throughout the day.

The 4-H health contest in which Doris Centerle of west of Marion is representing Marion county, continued today, with the judges preparing to announce names of the healthiest boy and girl Friday.

Winners from near Marion in the livestock judging include the following: W. M. Staley & Sons of Marysville, Marion, Class A, second for aged ram, second for ram lamb, first for aged ewe and second for ewe lamb, third for exhibitor's flock, second for pen of lambs, first for ram and ewe any age owned by exhibitor and champion ewe; Rambouillets, Class B, first for ram lamb; L. T. Hickman and son of Richwood, third for pen of three Chester White barrows, 180 pounds to 200 pounds.

A load of cattle belonging to F. H. Steiner of Kenton was judged the best carload lot entered in the show by James H. Doyle, a cattle buyer from Chicago, and Paul Gerlaugh of Ohio State university.

Degna Again of the George A. Dix & Son Percheron farm at Delaware was named reserve champion, champion bred and owned in Ohio and best three-year-old. Lonlation, owned by Frank Dewey of Ostrander, became reserve junior champion and one-year-old stallion.

Commanding Star from the Willis Star Farms in Delaware county was third in the $250 stake for Ohio-owned three-gaited saddle horses, mares or geldings, any height, at last night's horse show.

Organist Presents Composition by Dennis Gompf.

A waltz song composed by a Marion man, Dennis Gompf of Waples avenue, is being presented by Frew Mohr of Columbus, organist, in his recital program in the Women's building at the Ohio State fair this week.

Although he comes from a musical family Mr. Gompf neither plays nor sings, but has been composing songs for a number of years. His latest composition is the fourth song he has had copyrighted. The others are "On the Banks of the Ohio," "Will You Swing With Me Today," and "Dreaming Today." He writes the words and melodies in his spare time as an automobile painter.

PICKETS BLOCK FRISCO DOCKS

A. F. L. Seeks Showdown With C.I.O. in Shipping Fight as Work Ceases.

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2 — Motorized picket lines of A. F. L. teamsters virtually isolated the San Francisco waterfront from inland commerce and threatened coastwide shipping complications today in an effort to force a showdown in a controversy with CIO elements.

Teamster leaders announced the drivers of 500 heavy waterfront trucks were ceasing work and that only perishables and goods already in transit would be moved in or from the docks pending settlement of the dispute.

The teamster pickets took to automobiles and patrolled strategic positions of the waterfront.

Almon E. Roth, president of the Waterfront Employers association, said "a serious situation" would develop in a few days if the impasse continued.

The teamsters called their move a "finish fight" against CIO-affiliated warehousemen and CIO longshoremen, who had prevented the trucking of canned goods from a packing company involved in an alleged "lockout" of 75 warehouse union members.

At two other west coast points members of rival labor unions clashed. A score of persons were injured, two seriously, at Los Angeles in fights involving about 200 men.

There were minor clashes at Portland where saw mills were opened despite statements of A. F. of L. leaders they would refuse to handle products produced by CIO members.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor.

CLEVELAND—For the average human eye to notice a change in light, the volume of illumination must be either doubled, or cut in half. This explains a lot of disputes about the office lighting.

The eye can do better in tests when a person is trying. But under average working conditions it requires a doubling of volume before most persons notice any significant improvement in seeing.

This finding is from the transactions of the Illuminating Engineering society. More difficult to measure even than change in light is glare.

Another thing—increasing a window's height raises the amount of light in a room more than increasing window breadth by the same area.

WOMAN GUIDES CHINESE CHIEFS

Mme. Chiang Kai--shek Plans Defense Against Nippon Raids on Airdromes.

By The Associated Press

NANKING, Sept. 2—China's military chieftains turned to a woman—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek—today for a plan of defense against Japan's threat to bomb airports and military concentrations throughout all of China.

An anti-aircraft war council was under way at the office of Mme. Chiang, the chief of China's air force. Her premier-generalissimo husband, Chiang Kai-shek, and his general staff advisers heard her advice on how to meet Nippon's threat.

If a final plan was drafted, its details were not disclosed. Mme. Chiang issues all orders to air combat and defense units.

The office of China's first lady reflects both her American college education and her Chinese military training. After the conference she wrote air force orders on a portable typewriter.

Now and then she nibbled from the contents of a box of American chocolates. Behind her desk stood two Lewis machine guns from a Japanese plane shot down in a recent Nanking air raid.

She looked up occasionally toward the pastel head of Jesus alongside her desk, and its inscription: "I pray for them * * which thou hast given me."

TWINS TAKEN FROM DEAD MOTHER LIVE

Caesarian Operation Performed Successfully After Farmer's Wife Dies.

By The Associated Press

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 2—Dr. D. A. Harrison reported yesterday he had successfully performed a posthumous Caesarian operation upon a tenant farmer's wife and delivered twins who still were alive.

The 41-year-old woman, Mrs. George Conde, died of heart disease prior to the operation.

The twins were a boy weighing four pounds, four ounces, and a girl weighing five pounds, eight ounces.

Dr. Harrison said "as far as I know this is the first successful operation of the kind in medical history."

Dr. C. M. Carrithers assisted in the operation, performed in the Kleberg County hospital.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Conde came to the hospital for treatment for heart disease only and was not in labor when she died.

The mother had no raging fever, as in many cases where similar operations have been performed, Dr. Harrison said.

Spinal Puncture.

ON A VISIT to a hospital connected with a well-known medical college, my attention was drawn to a group of students and doctors assembled in a small lecture room. When I entered I learned they were being taught the procedure of spinal puncture or "tapping." I was impressed with the simplicity of the procedure. It is vastly better and safer than it was when I was a young practitioner.

As a result of improved methods in the manufacture of needles and other apparatus, as well as the use of safe and painless anesthetics, this has become very simple. It is a procedure which causes the patient little if any discomfort. All he feels is a slight prick when the local anesthetic is injected. The whole undertaking may take place in the home or in the doctors office.

The withdrawal of fluid from the canal by spinal puncture has been a great aid to the medical profession. Although only a small amount of the fluid is taken, it is sufficient for the purpose of complete and thorough test of its contents. Microscopic examinations as well as certain chemical tests are made by the experts.

What is discovered may be of great value in detecting certain disorders. For example, it may actually determine whether a patient is suffering from advanced syphilis, tumor of the brain, tuberculosis or some form of spinal meningitis. It is used in determining whether as the result of an accident, the skull has actually been fractured, and, if so, the extent of the injury.

In the recent infantile paralysis epidemic, the medical authorities recommended that this procedure be used in all suspected cases. Indeed, it is our only means of recognizing the disease in its early stages. To do this is extremely important because, as everybody knows this disease should be recognized as soon as possible. It makes a vast difference in the good results of treatment.

Despite this marked improvement in the procedure, many who need it still fear the spinal tap. They are under the impression that it is dangerous and painful. Let me assure you that it is neither.

If a spinal puncture has been advised, do not delay to give yourself the benefit of this valuable test. It may save a great deal of time in hastening a cure and helps to bring recovery without serious after effects.

VICE CAMPAIGN IS NATIONWIDE

G-Men Round Up Doctors Retained by White Slavers To Treat Victims.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—G-men launched a nation-wide drive today to round up physicians retained by white slave rings to treat victims for social diseases.

The white slave campaign conducted in Atlantic City during the last few days will be extended to the entire nation, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, said.

"We have begun a vigorous investigation into the activities of physicians and all others whose services have contributed to violations of the white slave act," Hoover declared. The inquiry is underway in every part of the country.

"The persons who are found to be identified with white slave traffic will be prosecuted as vigorously as are those who harbor criminals or withhold guilty knowledge of kidnapings."

The opening gun in the new drive against houses of prostitution was fired today in Atlantic City, where two physicians were arrested on charges of withholding from G-men information that persons they were treating were engaged in white slave traffic. They are Drs. N. H. Axlirod and Herman Klein.

Hitherto little used in the war against white slavers, this charge is expected to become a powerful weapon in the federal campaign against houses of ill fame.

Marriage Meddlers

Lillian Tells Queen Olga How Noel's and Mary's Royal Romances Ended.

DESPITE Queen Olga's expressed readiness to hear the truth concerning the "international romantic quartet," as Harry Underwood had dubbed them, I saw her flinch ever so slightly as Lillian uttered the words, "Noel was never in love with Olina."

I knew, of course, what was the matter. It was the case of "the colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady," and of the inevitable maternal reaction the world over to any slightest criticism of a daughter, even if only implied and extremely far-fetched.

But she knew—and guessed more — concerning our knowledge of Olina's past infatuation for Noel, and I knew that she did not relish the idea of our also being cognizant of the humiliating fact that her daughter's liking for Philip Veritzen's son was not returned.

But only that slight flinching movement betrayed her reaction. Her voice was as composed as ever when she spoke. She even managed a light laugh.

No Broken Hearts

"You are simply confirming news, my dear Lillian," she said, "not giving me any. And I am glad indeed that matters so arranged themselves. It would have been tragic if, when Olina and Georges were reconciled, there had been broken hearts left behind. I am sure, from what I have seen of Mary, that she has been able to forget Georges with celerity."

If she ever remembered him, Lillian said a bit curtly and my own maternal reaction toward the girl as dear to me as a daughter approved her retort. And, yet, honesty compelled me to admit to myself that even though I was sure Mary had never really loved Georges, I was equally sure that there had been a certain glamour investing her association with him which had been totally lacking in Noel's paternally engineered betrothal to Olina.

Formal Betrothals

"Quite," Queen Olga commented and I remembered with a start that her mother had been an English princess. "But shall I interpret your comment that I have called the turn on every count to mean that there were formal betrothals?"

"Oh, yes," Lillian said. "There was a brief period when Madge and I had thoughts of looking up court rituals and ordering fitting costumes. And then Georges' narrow escape from death — his condition was critical for a long time—at the hands of those conspirators against him evidently brought both him and your daughter to a realization of what their real feelings were and there was a touching reconciliation."

"And Noel and Mary?" she queried.

"They did not need any cataclysm to bring them together," Lillian answered. "They had been suffering silently but perceptably for days before the denouement, and the shift in partners was simultaneous."

Another Romance

"The international romantic quarter," Queen Olga quoted with a smile. "How fit that description is! And now you have answered all my questions save one. And I hope you will be especially frank about that one, for it is most important to me. Just what role did Mr. Veritzen play during that momentous summer?"

"Not a very creditable one," Lillian replied promptly. "He acted as if he were obsessed by the idea of his son contracting a royal alliance; there was no end to the devices he employed to throw Olina and Noel together, and at the same time to keep Mary away from him. He was the epitome of a silly tuft-hunter, and yet I had the feeling all the time that there was something we could not understand behind his actions."

Queen Olga smiled enigmatically, while something reminiscently tender came into her eyes.

"There was poor Phillip!" she said. "May I tell you a little story, a bit of ancient history?"

THE CANALS

Ethan Allen Brown is credited by some with doing most to arouse sentiment for construction of Ohio canals. As early as 1818, when he was a judge of the superior court, and Ohio as a state was but six years old, he contacted persons prominently connected with the development of the canal system of New York state, stating that he was deeply impressed with the value of connecting the lakes with the Ohio river by a canal.

Ten years later Brown was elected governor of Ohio and during his two terms did much to get things going for the building of the canals. It was just three years after he left office that ground was first broken for canal construction on the Licking summit of the Ohio canal—July 4, 1825.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Receivership Ended

Receivership of the LaMar restaurant was dissolved and the accompanying law suit dismissed by Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young yesterday after settlement had been reached. The receiver, George Ormes, reported his activities and was released from $2,000 bond. From money handled by the receiver during the suit and after payment of attorney fees and costs, $21.32 remained to be shared equally by the plaintiff and defendant.

The suit was filed by Alex Lambrose recently against Carmello or Tom Rizzo, partners in the restaurant for more than a year. Mr. Lambrose asked dissolution of the partnership as did Mr. Rizzo in his answer. Both asked for accountings of transactions by the other. Lambrose filed his action following his return from a several months' visit to Florida. He stated he was refused an accounting by Rizzo on his return and asked a receivership be appointed to take charge of the business.

The restaurant is located at 526 West Center street. James Reed and Edward J. Ruzzo represented Rizzo and George E. Pluenel represented Lambrose.

Files Answer

Mrs. Harry J. Barnhart filed an answer and cross petition in common pleas court yesterday to the suit of County Treasurer Homer D. Cole against William Fees and others for foreclosure of a delinquent realty tax account. She said she purchased a mortgage note given the closed Citizens Building & Loan Co. by the defendant and that $2,653.95 is still due. The property involved is part of lot No. 90 in the original plat of the city. She asks that her interest be protected. John H. Clark is her attorney.

Divorce Actions

Petition dismissed — Louise A. Brown against William B. Brown, W. Dexter Hazen, plaintiff's counsel.

Petition filed — Letha Stoneburner against Edgar Stoneburner, grounds of gross neglect and extreme cruelty, asks injunction to restrain defendant from molesting her, asks divorce and custody of three children, Homer E. Jonnson, counsel for plaintiff.

Tax Foreclosure

County Treasurer Homer D. Cole petitioned in common pleas court yesterday for foreclosure of a delinquent tax account on lot No. 1317 in Love's second addition, owned by M. C. Namar. Mr. Cole states $769.67 is due in back taxes. Walter D. Moore, assistant prosecuting attorney, prepared the suit.

Will Contested

A suit contesting the will of the late Charles Anderson was filed in common pleas court by Mrs. Elizabeth Hunsicker against Cyrus LeRoy Anderson and others. She contends the paper purporting to be the will of her father is not his last will and testament, but does not state whether another has been discovered.

The estate of Mr. Anderson, who died Feb. 6, 1937, is approximately $38,000 according to probate court records. The will filed March 3, 1937 and dated Oct. 11, 1935, makes the plaintiff, defendant and Ira E. Anderson, Lewis E. Anderson and Della May Keller, his only children, heirs to the estate.

Lewis E. Anderson is executor. Guthery & Guthery of Marion and J. E. Simpson of Forest are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday in probate court to Roy Howell, steel worker of 762 Uncapher avenue, and Eunice Redman of Caledonia, and to Roy Converse, minister of 146 Dix avenue, and Mary Louise Winters, saleslady of 126 Franconia avenue.

Inventories Filed

Inventories of the estates of 19 residents of Marion county have been filed in probate court and hearings set for Sept. 15. Among them is the estate of the late Ralph A. Young of Marion, listing property valued at $19,920, including $11,749 in securities and $4,00[illegible] real estate. It was appraised by George E. Frank, J. F. Domos [illegible] and R. E. White.

Modern Pioneers Needed To Drive Oxen 2,800 Miles

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., Sept. 2—If you think you're hardy enough to chaperon an ox team from Ipswich, Mass., to Marietta, O., you're just the man the Northwest Territory celebration commission is looking for.

The commission which plans to start its history-tracing trek Dec 3 wants 36 men in fact for the 10-month journey over the route of Ohio's early settlers and on through the six states which once were part of the northwest territory—2,800 miles in all.

"While some hardships may be encountered the trip will provide a real experience for those accepted," the commission wrote, adding that it wanted "energetic young men" between the ages of 20 and 35.

Covering about 15 miles a day, the modern pioneers will participate in a pageant each night at whatever town they reach.

Pageant costumes, meals, $1 a day and a $100 bonus when the journey ends, are offered participants.

BRITISH SEND MORE SHIPS TO LIFE LINE

summer, leading to the belief that a policy affecting the whole empire was being considered.

Crew Saved in Boats

The attack on the Woodford occurred about 70 miles north of where the destroyer Havock was attacked yesterday. The captain reported the ship sank three hours after she was torpedoed and that the crew took to the boats, arriving at the town of Benicarlo on the west Spanish coast after eight hours at sea.

Formerly under the Greek flag, the Woodford was being transferred to British ownership and was permitted to fly the British flag.

The Woodford's commander cabled Lloyd's from Benicarlo. A 6,987-ton tanker, the vessel was 18 miles off the Spanish coast on a voyage from Barcelona to Valencia when the torpedo was said to have been fired. The London manager of the Woodford said the telegram from the master unfortunately is not quite clear relating to the detail."

No Official Report

An official report on the incident had not reached Whitehall when the cabinet met.

The Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, held a surprise interview with Foreign Secretary Eden before the ministers met. The Earl is an expert on Mediterranean problems and thus it was felt his talk concerned what government quarters have termed "barbarous attacks" on shipping.

It was believed their conversation was not in furtherance of Anglo-Italian friendship negotiations which have been proceeding lately.

The outlook for an Anglo-Italian rapprochement was considered gloomy in view of widespread opinion, particularly in the press, that the mysterius submarine that attacked the Havock was an Italian craft.

Rome Wants Franco Regime Recognized

By The Associated Press

ROME, Sept. 2—The way to solve the troubled situation resulting from recent attacks on Mediterranean shipping is for all powers to recognize the belligerency of Gen. Francisco Franco, the Spanish insurgent leader, well informed persons declared today.

Asked for comment on the British cabinet meeting called for today to take up the series of attacks, including yesterday's attempt to blow up the British destroyer Havock, one Fascist official said there was no reaction because the matter did not involve an Italian submarine and therefore did not concern Italy.

A large portion of the British press blamed Italy, or hinted as much, in connection with the whole series of onslaughts.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2—Vice Mayor John Q. Carey of Toledo, on behalf of the Ohio League of Municipalities, presented a $11,152,000 relief program for next year to the joint unofficial legislative relief committee today.

The program for the remainder of this year was somewhat indefinite, however, calling for only $8,112,000 with much of the balance of the $6,136,000 estimated needs, probably to come from the state's general revenue fund.

Carey's proposals call for restatement of the one per cent utility excise tax which expired April 30 for an annual yield of $3,000,000; reassessment of the collective sales tax on beverages, malt and wort for an annual yield of $1,000,000; use of the $2,000,000 already allocated from the general sales tax, and an additional allotment of $1,000,000 from the general sales tax.

SUGAR TAX MEASURE SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

Authorizes $60,000,000 Processing Levy To Pay for Crop Control.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—A $60,000,000 sugar tax—the first processing levy on a farm product since the supreme court nullified the AAA taxes—became effective today as part of the new sugar-quota legislation.

President Roosevelt signed the much-debated sugar bill last night at Hyde Park and at the same time sharply assailed some of its provisions.

He said it legalized a "virtual monopoly" by a small group of seaboard refiners and that he had signed it only on assurance from congressional leaders that beet and cane growers were ending their "unholy alliance" with the seaboard refiners.

He expressed hope the next congress session would act to remedy the faults he said were in the bill.

The measure imposes a half-cent a pound processing tax on sugar, effective at once. Officials said it would raise from $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 annually. About $50,000,000 of this will go to sugar beet and cane growers in benefit payments for crop control.

The next act replaces the Jones-Costigan act which carries no processing tax. It sets up quotas, effective next Jan. 1 when the Jones-Costigan measure expires, for sugar producers.

ED SHARPLESS DIES SUDDENLY TODAY

lish and that it was only after he changed the "patter" of his act to suit the point-blank English humor, that he gained success there.

In this country he preferred to try out his new jokes on the Thursday "society night" audience in Boston. "If Boston laughed at my jokes, I knew there was nothing to fear from any other audience in the United States," he explained.

At the time when audiences were clamoring for more of "A Morning in Hicksville," he commanded a salary of $650 a week, the highest salary ever paid any American ventriloquist in the days of Sharpless' success.

It was as a stage star that he met both his wives. His first wife, Mrs. Corrine Sharpless, was a non-professional whom he met and married while touring in the west. After her death he married Miss Blanca Froehlich, a native of Vienna, Austria.

When they were married more than 20 years ago, in the east, she was the premiere danseuse with the Metropolitan Opera Co. and had been touring with Caruso. They were divorced several years ago and Madame Blanca, who for many years conducted a school of the dance in Marion, is now conducting a school in Cleveland.

One of the times Sharpless returned to Marion after he became "The Great Reynard," was to appear with one of the Elks minstrel shows. He made the jump from Montreal, Canada, just to accommodate his hometown friends and his only charge was his railway fare. The show, with him in the cast, was one of the biggest successes ever staged by Marion Lodge No. 32.

Mr. Sharpless was a native of Marion, born here Aug. 8, 1871, to Henry Clay Sharpless, a native of Marion county, and Ida Gregg Sharpless, a native of Bellefontaine, O. He was born in a frame house at the southwest corner of Vine and Church streets. As a boy he ran away with a small show, accompanied by the late Rodney Diegle. They were in Gallipolis when Diegle voiced an objection to his friend's name for theatrical purposes. They saw a fox and that settled Sharpless' future stage name. He became Ed. F. Reynard on the stage, and eventually, "The Great Reynard."

At Chicago in '93

Sharpless returned home after a short time in his first venture into show business, but the urge to show his tricks of magic, in which he had specialized, became too strong and on the day that the World's fair opened in Chicago in 1893, he landed in Chicago and joined Dr. Black's famous medicine show and began a tour of the west. Dr. Black taught him all the tricks of ventriloquism and it was at Park City, Utah, during a two weeks' engagement that Sharpless first tried entertaining an audience as a ventriloquist. He found he didn't have enough tricks of magic for a different performance each night, and he varied his act with ventriloquism. He worked up the act, using more and more mechanical dolls, and eventually landed on the "big time".

Mr. Sharpless leaves no family. A brother died in infancy and his parents have been dead for many years.

PORTSMOUTH SHERIFF REJECTS TROOP HELP

Expects No Trouble at Re-Opening of Shoe Plant Tomorrow Morning.

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Sept. 2—Sheriff Earl C. Brandle indicated today that he would not accept Gov. Martin L. Davey's offer of national guardsmen to preserve order at the opening of the strike-bound Williams Manufacturing Co. plant Friday morning unless the situation got out of the sheriff's control.

Although the governor's office in Columbus announced, that military aid would be "forthcoming if help is needed in maintaining order when the plant reopens" and that the sheriff was expected to ask for troops to be present, the sheriff's office said it did not expect trouble.

The reopening plans for the shoe manufacturing firm were announced in the wake of a temporary restraining order granted by Judge William R. White of Gallipolis against the United Shoe Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, from molesting workers who wished to return to their jobs under individual contracts with the company.

Only a small group of pickets was in the vicinity of the plant last night and there was no demonstration yesterday when maintenance employes went into the plant to prepare for the reopening.

The strike was called Aug. 16 and the union demanded recognition. The company had approximately 1,050 production employes and 150 office workers when the strike began. Union officials said about 450 of the Williams employes belonged to the union.

Philip G. Phillips, regional director of the national labor relations board, said at Cincinnati that he was "seriously contemplating" filing a formal complaint against the company.

During the recent hearing preceding the restrainer against the union, Edward Lamb of Toledo, union attorney, asserted in court that the plant would not make another shoe until it recognized the union.

TRAILER NOMADS ELECTION PROBLEM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 2—Ohio election officials pondered today the question of whether to permit automobile trailer nomads to vote.

The secretary of state received a request from the Van Wert county election board for a ruling on the right of a family of four trailer wanderers to vote this fall in the Van Wert city elections.

The family, all voters, according to the election board's statement, came in their trailer to Van Wert about 18 months ago from Kentucky and rented a postoffice box. Engaged in outdoor advertising, they spend very little time in Van Wert, parking their outfit on city owned property.

MANVILLE TURNS TO MARITAL LAW

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—Tommy Manville, heir to asbestos millions, wants a jury to decide how much he will pay his fourth wife for a divorce—a jury made up of his first three wives.

The gray-haired Broadway playboy thought up the idea after he said his "high-priced lawyers" had been unable to reach an agreement with Marcelle Edwards, his current better half.

"Marcelle was willing to take $100,000 once, but she changed her mind after going to Reno," he said. "I'm going to ask my first three wives to get together with her and work out a fair payment."

MORE THAN 500 DIE AS GALE HITS CHINA

Dutch liner Van Heutz, ashore on Green Island at the western entrance to the harbor, was a total loss. There was great anxiety for the 200 passengers and members of her crew until they were all taken off safely.

The steamer Anlee, tossed by the waves, collided with the British warships Suffolk, Duchess and Diamond before being crashed on the Praya roadway.

Fifteen bodies were recovered from the fire-blackened ruins of a Chinese tenement section after the six-hour hurricane died down. The storm was blamed for the fire which trapped the hapless Chinese in their flimsy dwellings.

Numerous houses collapsed under the fierce wind, burying their occupants. Observatory instruments ceased to function after registering a 125-mile-an-hour velocity for the typhoon.

Streets were blocked in all directions by debris. Many of the low-lying thoroughfares were covered by sheets of water after the storm subsided. A torrent of rain accompanied the blow. Waterfront shops were flooded waist-deep.

Solid blocks of masonry collapsed under many piers. Smaller seacraft lay in a wild jumble.

DRYS LOSE TO THIEF AT HOLLOWAY, O.

Deputies are checking clues, but Mrs. Staggs said that since Friday was the last filing date, it was too late to fill out new petitions for the local option vote.

COMPANY FILES BRIEF IN WATER RATE CASE

period for which the rate was proposed have already elapsed.

On July 30, 1936, the company filed an appeal with the commission contending the city's proposal was unjust and insufficient to yield a reasonable compensation to the company for the service furnished. On May 11 and 12 and July 20 of this year, hearing sessions were conducted by the commission and both sides submitted testimony and arguments.

The company contends there are three general issues involved in the rate controversy as follows: (a) the value of all property used and useful in the service, (b) the income account, and (c) the reasonable rate of return.

So far as the value of the property is concerned, the company cites the $1,377,676 figure fixed by the commissions' engineers and the $1,341,236 figure fixed by the company's engineers and contends that the use of either figure would entitle the company to rates higher than those now in effect.

Regarding the income account, the company asserts that if proper adjustments were made the operating expenses claimed by the company would be virtually the same as those arrived at by the commission's accountants.

So far as the rate of return is concerned, the company argues that it is entitled to rates sufficient to yield a seven per cent return on its investment after operating charges have been paid.

Argues Valuation Correct

The company submits arguments as to why its valuation figure should be upheld by the commission, contends that its method of computing depreciation is proper and asserts that the city's witness, Mr. Wood, did not arrive at his figures for these items on the proper basis.

The company devotes more than a page to uncollectible accounts, stating in part, "It is undisputed that over a long series of years the city of Marion has consistently failed to pay its (fire hydrant) accounts to the Marion Water Co. and that it has demanded and received from the company, and from other utilities substantial discounts on its bills in return for what payments is made. It is undisputed that the...company has not in the past been able to collect its bills from the city without the giving of a 10 per cent discount, and...without incurring the cost of legal services for negotiation and with advice to the city of Marion." The company argues it should be permitted to include these discounts to the city as an item of operating expense. It also asserts an allowance should be made for employment of an attorney to seek payment of the city's obligations to the company. It contends the item of expense for management services furnished by the American Waterworks & Electric Co. is a reasonable one.

Denies Wood Argument

The company denies the arguments of Mr. Wood, who in testifying for the city contended that the high rates put into effect in 1928 resulted in loss of industrial business, and that the company could increase its business by decreasing the rates. This latter statement was of course made by the witness (Mr. Wood) without any experience in the operation of water works properties," the company argues. "If he had had such experience, he would have known that, unlike electric utilities, water utilities can not increase their earnings by reducing rates. In this connection the fact should not be overlooked that the...company has had available to large consumers for several years a special rate...which is approximately the same rate as the rate for large users of water before the increase was made subsequent to the installation and starting of the softening plant. Only one consumer has been retained under this rate. This indicates that most large consumers are not now attracted by the rates in effect prior to the installation of the softening plant...The record is therefore clear that the appellant in this case can not count on any increase in revenue resulting from a greater consumption resulting from a possible reduction in rates."

Compares Earnings

If the rate reduction proposed by the city were put into effect, the company's rate of return, as computed under the various valuation and operating expense figures submitted by the company and commission engineers, would vary somewhere between 4.3 per cent and 5.5 per cent, the company contends.

"The ordinance rates (the reduction proposed by council) are clearly confiscatory and the present rates do not yield a fair compensation to the company on the present fair value of its property now used and useful in the public service," the company asserts.

Twenty-six pages of the brief are devoted to arguments about statutes and court decisions which the company contends are applicable to the Marion rate case.

A Little Something.

LARGE sums of money are spent each year in the United States by foreign interests and governments to build goodwill

Yet, by promising to pay only $19,658 annually for three years on its debt to this country of approximately $1,700,000, Hungary has built more goodwill than could be established by a million dollar advertising campaign.

Europeans are proud of their realism. They boast they are able to see things as they are, whereas Americans are more likely to visualize them as they should be.

War indebtedness is a realistic situation Americans know how European debtors feel about it; they have felt the same way about their personal debts when it was hard to meet payments.

Yet, by paying a little something millions of them have preserved their self respect and credit. That's all they expect foreign debtors to do Finland and Hungary have broken the united front of defaulters. Who will be next to turn realistic?

Faith.

SYMPATHETIC hearts throb for the plight of new deal congressmen the rest of this year. Theirs must be a nervous existence

Until congress reconvenes, they are supposed to study public opinion in their districts and states They are expected to discover that their constituents are 100 per cent for President Roosevelt in everything he has proposed and will propose.

To do this they would have to wear ear muffs, lifting them only at intervals when they could be assured of hearing nothing unpleasant

They would have to refrain from conversation with everybody, except rabid supporters of the President who really believe he is infallible.

Obviously, no congressman can wear ear muffs during warm weather or keep from talking things over with his constituents in any kind of weather. He must expose himself constantly to the germ of the idea that the people retain the right to be critical of their chief executive and do not concede that by getting elected last November Mr. Roosevelt obtained a blanket mandate to do anything which came into his head until January, 1941.

The slightest yielding to skepticism in this respect will result in being purged from the new deal party, spokesmen have warned. Father Divine's "Faith—it's wonderful!" has become the chant of the new era.

Living and Learning.

THE LEFT hooks Joe Louis and Tommy Farr planted made better fight news Tuesday than high explosives falling to earth—"I know not where"—in the far east.

Four of every five persons who backed their opinions of the fighters with money learned a lesson.

Farr, an unknown, never brought the odds against his chance to win closer to his favor than 4 to 1. In betting, that's almost the same as not being given more than an outside chance.

Yet, he almost won; a few believe he did win. He puzzled his favored opponent with an unorthodox style. He disconcerted him by beating him to the punch and refusing to be knocked down. He wouldn't be beaten.

Never count out a desperate contender in advance. For a nation which gave odds in the 20's against the Soviet Union, took "sucker" bets in the 30's on the imminent collapse of the Hitler regime and now seems disposed to take the short end of long shots on Japan's chance to conquer China, the Louis-Farr fight was a timely lesson.

Two Rings At Once

FIGHTING in two rings at once may be good business for amateur boxing tournaments, but it's too much action to watch in a professional war.

While the world has been sitting on the edge of the seat to watch China block Japan's blows, Spanish rebels have been straightening up loyalists for a knockout.

Capture of the port of Santander on the Bay of Biscay will make it possible for Gen Franco to apply pincer strategy on Madrid, with troops moving in from the north to supplement rebel pressure from the south. Franco strategy, it is reported, calls for cutting off communication between Madrid and Valencia, then proceeding to attack Madrid itself.

It seems the fascist bloc in Spain has made the most of the fact the world's attention has been fixed on affairs in the far east during the last month. Though it does not seem probable, there is a possibility, in view of the rumored understanding between Japan and the European fascist bloc, that the outbreak of hostilities in Shanghai may be another side of the campaign being carried on in Spain.

Most great authors have been poor penmen, according to the records, which leads to the deduction that a majority of our modern fictionists must write a perfect Spencerian script.

George Steals Time From Report Sheets To Tell A Story

Licenses And Regulations Keep Him Busy - - - - - He Wonders If It's Worth The Effort

GEORGE looked hot and tired the other night when a customer dropped into his restaurant confectionery for a drink. He was standing back of the counter checking some figures against the printed tape on the cash register.

The customer slid into a booth and gave his order to a waitress Then he called across the room.

"Well, George, how's business?

George seemed to welcome an interruption He put aside the sheet of figures, and drew a glass of rootbeer at the soda fountain. He crossed the room and sat down at the table His face was a study. He was about to unburden himself He seemed to be groping for the proper approach. He began

"That question will take a lot of answering if you really want to know how business is. I might say, to start off, that I have plenty of customers, that sales are up and my gross is far ahead of recent years, but there's a fly, in fact a whole swarm of flies, in the ointment. It's hard to explain"

He took a gulp of rootbeer.

"When I first started in this business there was a lot of satisfaction in operating my own place. I still own the business but I don't run it any more The government does that I'm just a sort of clerk and bookkeeper with the title of proprietor"

Pointing to a large glass frame behind the cash register he said:

"THAT'S where I begin to 'get the business' from the government Those nicely engraved papers you see there are permits or licenses to assure me that I'm still in business The cost ranges from $1 to $100 They represent a tax to pay for inspectors and government jobholders to help me run my business

"Add to the price of these licenses the tax I pay as a general levy on my stock and in workmen's compensation Then add state unemployment insurance, federal social security, old age pension and sales tax and you'll find that total assessments amount to better than $600 a year, or an average of $50 a month"

He scratched his ear ruefully

"Say my margain or profits 10 per cent in general on all goods sold. You'll see that to pay these assessments alone I have to do $6,000 worth of business for the government before I can begin to meet rent, wages of employes light, heat, gas and other expenses I might add that with costs and wages mounting, the margin of profit in this business and every other one is far below 10 per cent.

"And that's only part of the problem. Keeping accurate accounts, separating taxed from non-taxed articles and making out endless reports are my real worries I spend a couple hours every day making out reports and checking inventories just to prevent penalties The government through its multitude of regulations says in effect that if a man can't run his business right for the government he has no right to be in business"

George took another swallow of rootbeer

"You've made out some income tax blanks and know how confusing they are Well, an income tax blank is simple compared to some of the reports I have to make out as often as once a month to send to some department of the state or federal governments. And if I make an error of a few pennies, I can expect an inspector mussing up my place before I'm over my headache"

HE RUBBED his hand over his forehead "Take this form, for example," he said, opening a brief case and sorting out a nicely printed blue sheet, with a lot of finely printed instructions on it. "I got to fill that out once a month, have it notarized and forward it down to one of the state offices"

The customer picked up the sheet, puzzled over it a few seconds and asked what it was.

"That's regulation 31," said George. "Every time I clean the beer line or the coil leading from the beer keg to the tap I have to write out a report. You can see here that I must put down the day, the month, the year, what process was used, how thoroughly the coil was cleaned and then I got to run over to the notary public and have it notarized Once in a while an inspector pops in and I got to tear up all my equipment to give him a look.

"The situation has become so complicated that it's funny. For example, the state makes me pay $100 for a permit to sell 3.2 per cent beer, which it classes as non-alcoholic. My application for a permit is filed with the state, and the federal government gets my name from that list as a permit holder. Then the federal government says since beer is made from malt it is classed as alcohol and I must pay the federal government $25 for a liquor stamp. Then the city says that beer is a soft drink so I have to buy a soft drink license which costs $1 And I get an inspector with each one. In other words I got to have three licenses costing $126 plus $16 for a bond, to sell a five cent glass of low power beer."

Reaching into the brief case again, George came up with an assortment of official looking documents and spread them out on the table Some were printed on yellow, some on blue and others on a variety of colored papers

Singling one out George said

"THIS one covers workmen's compensation, based on my payroll. I got to fill it out and send it in to the state office. Periodically, an inspector appears on the job to check conditions in my store. He checks stairways, landings, railings, carpets or floor coverings, cutting machine guards and every article which employes use here

From his portfolio George extracted another report blank.

"See this one," he said as he spread it out on the table. "It came in the mail the other day. It applies to minimum wage regulations covering women I have to enter information on each day's operations telling how many hours they work, how much time they have for lunch, when they start to work and when they quit

"About the only information I don't have to give on this report is the color the girls paint their fingernails, where they spend their vacations and whether they use the vertical or horizontal method of scrubbing their teeth I wouldn't be surprised if I had to add that some day

"You'd be surprised how many inspectors come and go in this business There are the cigaret inspector, meat inspector, milk inspector, wine beer and liquor inspectors born for the state and federal governments sales tax inspector, soft drink inspector, social security inspector, a restaurant inspector from the state fire marshal's office, plumbing inspector fire inspector, and a half dozen others I can't recall at the moment

"When a man walks in with a brief case under his arm I make a mental bet as to whether he is a customer or an inspector. More often than not he's in to check up on me"

"I USED to dread the first of the month because it meant the postman with a pouch full of bills. It's different now. I look forward to the bills because they are a change from the armloads of instructions from the government.

"I can't think of anything so circumscribed by regulations There may be plenty to justify careful regulation of places selling goods, from a health standpoint, but it seems to me that the same ends could be accomplished with a lot less red tape."

George's friend had been studying a handful of report blanks while George talked

"How do you ever find time to decipher and understand all this stuff?"

George snorted. He didn't have time, he didn't understand three fourths of them and he didn't care who knew it.

"If I were smart enough to understand all this I'd get out of business and set myself up as an official interpreter and have a pretty office with red leather furniture I'd call myself a 'government regulation consultant' and lobby for more and more confusing laws"

His friend was puzzled

"But how," he asked, "do you get the reports made out if you don't understand the instructions?"

"That's simple" said George, all you have to do is hire an auditor a bookkeeper and a lawyer and you're all set. If your business makes you enough money to pay them, everything's hunky - dory. Otherwise you nail the front door shut and go on relief"

Having delivered himself of this lecture on the 'cause of grey hair among merchants,' George arose and excused himself saying

"Pardon me, but I now must go down in the basement and count my potatoes so I can make out my daily sales tax report"

GEORGE may have exaggerated his situation a trifle for the sake of emphasis but his remarks seemed to strike at the root of a problem which daily grows more complex. George doesn't know the answer, nor do any of his friends

A survey made out of curiosity indicates that practically every other line of business has similarly confusing problems, many of them imposed by what has been termed the 'painless method of hidden taxation"

Louisiana Senator Who Favors Dictator Says Roosevelt Follows Huey Long's Footsteps.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON Sept. 2—It has remained for a United States senator from Louisiana, spokesman for an authority on Huey Long's political philosophies to say publicly that President Roosevelt is paralleling the methods and doctrines of the late Huey Long

The utterance was not made or intended as in any sense critical of or unfriendly to Mr. Roosevelt, for Senator Ellender saw nothing wrong in the Long methods and sees nothing wrong now in the Roosevelt tactics Mr Ellender's exact words are worth quoting, for he speaks with knowledge and experience:

"I want to help Mr. Roosevelt do the same things for the nation that Huey did for Louisiana. If that spells dictatorship, I am going to do all I can to help the President establish such a dictatorship in the United States But, of course, there never was any dictatorship in Louisiana. The people ruled Huey wanted to give the people a break"

Senator Ellender might have added that, of course, there is no dictatorship in Germany because Mr. Hitler holds elections now and then and wins by even greater landslides than either Huey Long or Mr. Roosevelt ever experienced. Every time Mr. Hitler makes a speech about the "popular will," he says he is acting for an overwhelming "majority." Judging by the way elections are controlled abroad and also here, through about 40 state political machines by the Farley bureaucracy, there is no difficulty in producing a political majority at any time, especially since the chief executive has been given discretionary power to allocate federal funds to strategic points in the electorate where huge numbers of votes are concentrated.

What is significant about Mr. Ellender's frank comparison of Roosevelt tactics and Huey Long's methods is that the Louisiana senator favors a dictatorship of the Long variety—he feels benevolent dictatorship is all right.

It so happens that the oppressed minorities in the state of Louisiana felt otherwise Not only were all constitutional rights made subject to the whim of Huey Long as governor of the state but he controlled the courts, appointed rubber stamps to render decisions that he wanted.

As for the legislature of Louisiana, the members were for the most part of the Gulfey type—the kind who take their orders from "The chief" and exercise no independent judgment in behalf of their constituents.

Huey Long controlled the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government of the state of Louisiana It took him some time to capture the whole government but, little by little, as he gained control of the election machinery, he was able to hand-pick candidates for the legislature so that they were virtually all beholden to him. If ever there was a case in which a Republican form of government, as guaranteed to every state by the federal Constitution, was broken down, it was in the state of Louisiana under Huey Long.

The Roosevelt administration fought Senator Long because he attacked the new deal, and indictments for income tax evasion were filed by the Roosevelt regime as a means of harassing some of Huey Long's lieutenants. When Long was assassinated, however, and it was politically desirable for Mr. Roosevelt to make peace with the Long faction in Louisiana politics, the President, with characteristic flexibility, if not indifference to morality in government, promptly agreed to let the department of justice drop the indictments This incident has been referred to in the press by Louisiana critics as the "Second Louisiana Purchase."

So Mr. Ellender is not revealing anything new when he says he sees a parallel between the Long regime in Louisiana and Mr. Roosevelt's national policies and methods, but it is new to have a person in authority concede it. As a matter of fact, the President has given forth about as much talk and has done about as little toward a share-the-wealth program as Huey Long did. There are now, after four and a half years of conversation and speech-making, still one-third of the American people "ill-nourished, ill-housed, and ill-clad" notwithstanding that nearly $18,000,000,000 have been spent and four years of deficits have been incurred. Mr. Ellender favors a dictatorship and he is honest and frank in admitting it. Most of the new dealers, however, still cling to the pretense that they believe in democracy and in the rule of the majority—though the Democratic machine is getting oiled up to produce the necessary "majority" in the 1938 elections to "purge" the party here, as they do abroad, of all who dare to vote independently in congress.

Uncle Sam's Billionitis

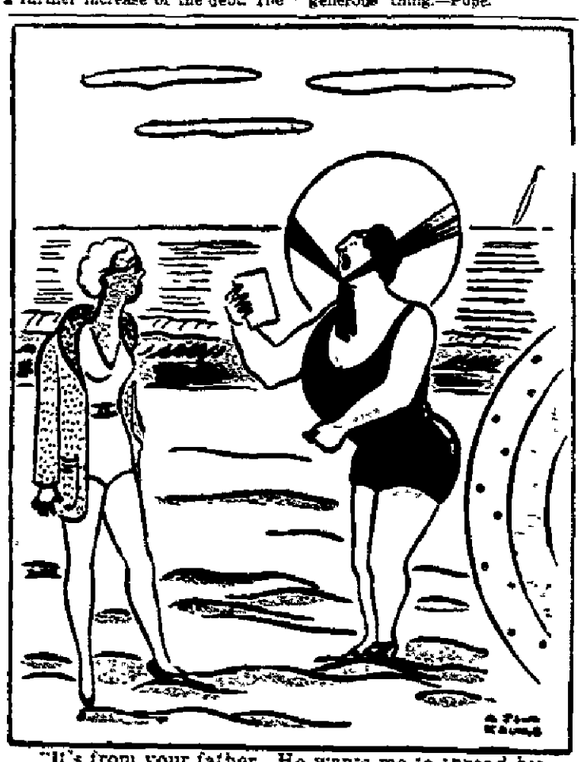
RECENTLY the United States government borrowed some more money from the banks, enough to shove the national debt total past the 37th billion mark. The New York Times, commenting on the passing of another milestone in the billionitis race, said

"For most of us this is like reading that Finsler's comet was within 56 million miles of the earth a fortnight ago before it curved out again into space. Figures like these are too large to be easily comprehensible. But what can be more readily understood, in the case of the national debt, is that it has doubled in the last six years, that the per capita debt is now nearly 25 times as large as it was in the year before the war, and that the cost of carrying this debt imposes a charge on every salaried person and every wage earner in the country, either through direct taxation, through one or another of a dozen different kinds of indirect taxation or through an increase in the cost of living

"The greatest single failure of the session of congress which ended on Saturday was its failure to assure the country of a balanced budget which would preclude further borrowing by the treasury and a further increase of the debt. The President himself proposed, when congress first convened, one of the largest peacetime spending budgets ever to be submitted But at various points congress then proceeded to top this budget with appropriations in excess of the President's estimates. Against these increases Mr. Roosevelt protested on more than one occasion Twice he vetoed a bill which added to the government's obligations, only to have congress override his veto

"The most significant and least reassuring fact in the present situation is that the budget remains unbalanced even though the government's anticipated revenues for this very fiscal year will rise to the highest figure ever reached in the whole history of the country. If the United States cannot stop borrowing with its revenues at such a peak, how can it expect to ever stop borrowing at all? This is precisely the time when the country should be reducing its indebtedness rather than increasing it; bringing it down to more manageable proportions, and jealously conserving the national credit for whatever lean years may lie ahead"

Many men have been capable of doing a wise thing, more a cunning thing, but very few a generous thing.—Pope.



"It's from your father. He wants me to thread his needle and mail it back to him!"

In New York

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2—Every trained New York detective and those wise to the details of Broadway, smile at the figure so often described by writers as "a shifty-eyed crook." There is a general belief that the guilty cannot look one in the eye. The bigger the crook the steadier his gaze, as a rule

Long ago Charles Dickens expressed a truism with "There is a mistaken belief about bad men being unable to look you in the face Don't trust the idea. Dishonesty will stare honesty out of countenance any day in the week if there is anything to be gained by it"

Some of the suavest and gentlest men I have ever known, men who have a lifetime of honesty and purpose and ideals behind them, are unable to look squarely into the eyes of their most intimate friends I knew a banker whose gaze was frank and open. He was indicted and missed prison by an eye-lash.

Maeterlinck confessed he could not look his own mother squarely in the eye Along Broadway the boys who slap you on the back so heartily, can not only look you directly in the eye but can, if they so desire, lift your wallet while doing so.

I doubt if any of his fellows ever caught him in an ill humor. He was the humor without barb and his personality had charm. He had eternal youth and in death, trying to save others on a yacht, was noble A truly gentle soul.

They Miss Congress

WASHINGTON — Commercial Washington is crying for a special session of congress You'd think the place had suffered enough what with an eight-month session that left the political part of the city jumpy and shell-shocked. But 531 congressmen with $10,000-a-year incomes make a nice buying public. Take any city in the country and suddenly snatch out 531 of its $10,000-a-year men and you will understand better how Washington feels about it.

Moreover, the members of congress are not the only public spenders who desert Washington immediately after the gavel falls Each house member is allowed $5,000 a year for clerical hire which means at least two clerks each. Top pay is fixed by law at $3,900 Senators are allowed $12,100 a year for clerks, which must be split among five, with $3,900 to the head clerk.

Men Get Prettied Up

Besides that, if a member is chairman of a committee, he usually is allowed one or more extra clerks. All in all, it runs up to about 1,500 clerks, male and female. And it is no secret that the female clerks are missed most sorely along the shopping front.

These little girls do take on a commercial glow when they hit the big city—and Washington shops fatten on it. The uncoiffeured tresses on capitol hill at any given moment could be wrapped around your finger. There are more waves there than on the Chesapeake, and they cost more.

That leads to something else. Not all the fancy hair waving and dyeing is confined to the female clerical help. Sitting in the senate gallery during a session, you couldn't count on your fingers the number of stately heads of hair made prodigious by the deft touch of the waving iron and the dye pot.

They're Awful Particular

To a degree the house also does and crimps but being a somewhat younger family, the men there find less need of it.

One beauty operator says the number of male customers has increased since President Roosevelt pointed a finger of suspicion at the ability of gentlemen of 70 and up Gray hair, by edict, was made less popular, and the beauty shops helped make it less prevalent.

Men customers are persnickity as all get out, says this operator. Women take hair dyeing as a matter of course. They don't fuss about a minor imperfection or a trifling flaw that may or may not give away the dyeing job But if a spot of dye or a tell-tale blemish shows up on the hair of a statesman, it takes on the proportions of an international incident.

Now don't write in for names of conspicuous dyed-heads. We won't give 'em. We value our own bristles too much.

Today in Ohio History

After a bloody and slow advance from May to September in 1864, General Sherman at last rendered Atlanta, Ga., untenable for the confederates. The once proud city of the south surrendered to the Ohio general on Sept 2.

The great victory had been won however at a cost of about 30,000 men on each side. On entering the city the federal troops burned all the industrial plants of the city but General Sherman ordered all the churches and dwellings spared.

ARMY IS READY FOR FLOOD JOB

Projects Depend on Local Communities Buying Land Easements, Rights of Way.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2— The army engineers said today they are ready to go" on Ohio river valley flood control projects authorized by the recent congress.

They said, however, the program depends on the ability of communities along the river to meet requirements of a bill providing $[illegible],000,000 for flood walls and other works in the valley.

The bill stipulates that local governments must buy land, easements and rights of way needed for the projects. President Roosevelt is given discretionary power to direct federal aid in such purchases to the extent of 50 per cent where communities show they are unable to bear all the expense.

Engineers said plans for many projects already were drawn and awaited only reports on the ability of local authorities to cooperate financially. These reports are being assembled by Col. R. G. Powell, division engineer at Cincinnati, and probably will be received here next week.

One official said projects would be abandoned in communities unable to meet financial requirements of the new legislation, passed after President Roosevelt asked congress to defer until next year action on an $800,000,000 flood control program covering the entire country.

The same person reported that cities and towns having available funds must show in writing their legal authority to use them for flood control projects. This authority will be subject to approval by the secretary of war.

The board of army engineers said there was a possibility that projects would get under way this year in sections meeting all requirements of the measure promptly.

EDISON RESIDENT ON TOUR OF WEST

Mrs. H. E. Bush and Daughter Return Home.

Mrs. H. E. Bush of Edison, and her daughter Leota of Columbus, have returned from a month's tour of the western part of the United States and Canada. Enroute to California they visited points of interest including Pike's Peak, Salt Lake City and the national parks of Utah and Arizona.

While in Los Angeles and Hollywood they took a number of trips, visiting Old Mexico, Catalina Island and Santa Barbara during fiesta time. In Hollywood they visited the CBS broadcasting station and places of interest in the city.

After visiting Portland and Seattle they went to Vancouver, B. C. by boat, returning by way of Lake Louise and Banff where they spent several days. At Lake Louise snow fell on Aug. 23, while a few days later in Saskatchewan they encountered a temperature of 100 degrees. They were accompanied to Los Angeles by Mrs. Imogene Curl of Columbus, who will return home later by way of Mount Rainier and Glacier Park.

MARIONITES START TRIP THROUGH WEST

To Make 5,000-Mile Journey by Train.

A trip of approximately 5,000 miles, mostly by train, was begun this week by F. A. Sparks of 157 Superior street and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ryder and daughter Louise of 387 South Prospect street. Mr. Sparks is track supervisor and Mr. Ryder is train master for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad here.

The party left for the west Tuesday night for the trip from which they are not expected to return until late this month. They will visit Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., and returning will stop at Lake Louise, Canada, and several other points of interest. At many of the places they will make extended tours of the vicinity and at others they expect to visit friends and relatives.

Schroeter - Shambaugh Rites Read At St. Mary Church

A LOVELY wedding of early fall was solemnized this morning in St. Mary Catholic church when Miss Alma G. Schroeter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Schroeter of 227 North Prospect street, became the bride of Lowell Shambaugh, son of Deputy Morrow County Treasurer Guy Shambaugh and Mrs. Shambaugh of Mt. Gilead.

The bride and bridegroom chose the forty-first wedding anniversary of the bride's parents for the ceremony which was read by the pastor, Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, who was the celebrant for the high nuptial mass at 7:30 o'clock. Presiding at the organ was Miss Fanny Placentio, and the mass was sung by the children's choir.

The decorations in the sanctuary were gladioli in deep salmon and wine shades. Bouquets of the flowers filled the tall white wicker baskets which stood at either side of the chancel entrance and were used to fill the large vases adorning the side altars.

Miss Mary O'Neil of Cincinnati, a classmate of the bride was her only attendant, and Henry Shambaugh of Mt. Gilead, brother of the bridegroom was his best man. Seating the guests were John Hartman and John Wissler, also classmates of the bride.

Bride's Gown Rust Tone

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of transparent velvet in a rust tone. The full, street-length skirt was held with a wide girdle, and shirring from the neck to the waistline, lent fullness to the front of the gown. The sleeves were three-quarter length and she wore a rhinestone clip. A matching circular veil fell from her velvet hat in rust and cinnamon shades, and she wore gloves and suede shoes in rust and cinnamon tones. Completing her costume was a Colonial bouquet fashioned of Johanna Hill roses and yellow glad blossoms tied with wide ribbon matching the roses in her bouquet.

The bridesmaid's gown, fashioned on lines similar to that worn by the bride, was of hunter's green velvet, with a small gold collar, and she wore a matching velvet off-the-face hat, green suede shoes and gloves. Her flowers were Talisman roses and yellow pompons tied with a wide bow in a Talisman rose shade.

Following the ceremony there was a small reception and breakfast for 30 guests, including the families and close friends of the couple, at Ringer's Inn.

The bride's mother wore a printed net gown over blue satin and her accessories were in navy blue, and Mr. Shambaugh's mother was in navy blue crepe costume with navy accessories. Mrs. Schroeter's flowers were Briar Cliff roses in a corsage, and Mrs. Shambaugh wore a corsage of Premier roses. A bride's cake decorated the table for the breakfast and bouquets of gladioli carried out a color note throughout the rooms.

On Wedding Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Shambaugh will spend the remainder of the week and Labor Day on Lake Erie and then will go into Michigan and Canada. After Sept. 13 they will be at home at 138 South Rich street in Mt. Gilead. The bride's going away costume was of sheer wool crepe in a brown shade and she wore brown accessories.

Mrs. Shambaugh was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school and attended the Marion Business college. She has been making her home in Toledo for more than a year where she has been in the office of the Home Owners' Loan corporation.

Mr. Shambaugh was graduated from the Mt. Gilead High school and the Marion Business college and is a statistician with the Huber Manufacturing company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Rose Hoover, Miss Alma Ammer, Miss M. Semler, Miss Viola Eddy, Miss Virginia Marshall, and George Laskey of Toledo, Mrs. Alice Hollebeck of Perrysburg, Miss Eileen Blake and Lowell Douce of Mt. Gilead.

MISSES ELEANOR REID and ROSE MARY WERLEY entertained with a dinner and shower complimenting Miss Margaret Minoughan, a bride of this month, last evening at Ringer's Inn on the Prospect pike. ...portly after 4 o'clock an ear-...ing chorus of sirens was ...rd approaching from up the ...r road and a car bearing the ...yland coat-of-arms swept ...und the corner with an escort ...10 state constables on motor-...les. They pulled up in front of ...store. In the car rode a stern-...oking man that Neill knew must ...Bonniger, and beside him the ...neant of police in command ...the detachment.

...m the store porch Mr. Button ...lings was waiting with his ...skers idly swaying in the ...eze. A little behind him stood ...gil Longcope grinning and ...wing a cigar.

"How do you do, gentlemen?" ...d Mr. Billings with dignity. "I ... the representative of the law ...e."

"How are you, Mr. Billings?" ...d Bonniger, and Neill saw that ...had a sense of humor.

The police officer was introduced as Sergeant Wilson.

"The deceased is over in the shed," said the justice of the peace mysteriously. "Will you step over and take a look at him?"

"In the shed?" put in Sergeant Wilson sharply. "We were told he was shot aboard his yacht."

"Well, he was. But we sat on him in the shed."

Virgil stood by enjoying every case. He determined that somehow or other he would get in with Bonniger; he would make a friend of him so that he could be at the center of things. It would be dangerous, but it would be worth the risk.

Chafing At His Exclusion.

Some time passed before Bonniger appeared again, but Neill had plenty of evidences of his activities. Searches of the woods on foot and of nearby waters by boat were organized, each under the command of a constable, and sent off. The latter party struck an ugly fear into Neill, but there was nothing he could do about it. He hung around on the wharf watching their preparations and listening. The villager whose skiff had been stolen was describing his craft to them. Luckily that skiff was at the bottom of the river.

Neill, chafing at his exclusion, had to watch messengers being despatched in various directions, and different individuals being taken into the back office for questioning. He would have given a lot to be at Bonniger's side.

On the outskirts of the crowd he ran into Horace Kettering in his old clothes with a row of fish hooks caught in his hat-brim. Kettering, it appeared, had just heard of the crime on returning from fishing.

"What's this? What's this?" he demanded of Neill.

Neill told him the main facts.

Kettering looked comically disgusted. "It's hard enough for me to get a few days' holiday, and now my fishing will be spoiled by this uproar! My boy and I caught 30 fish today. That's more important to me than a murder!"

"Oh, sure," said Neill.

"What do these hicks propose to do about solving the crime?" asked Kettering.

"Virgil Longcope has got the governor to appoint Mark Bonniger as a special investigator."

"But he's a country gentleman, not a detective."

"Well, they seem to think he's the best they've got."

"I've met the man casually in town. I must go and say how-de-do to him."

"What about this Bonniger?" asked Neill.

"Oh, he's a fine fellow," said Kettering. "Come on, I'll give you an introduction."

This was better luck than Neill had expected.

Neill finds the little man who has been watching his movements, tomorrow.

The villagers stopped work and stood around passing the latest news.
